Orientation

A New Beginning

By Michelle Hines

From August 18th to the 25th, UMW hosted its annual orientation to give new students a chance to connect to the unique culture of Mary Washington. To begin the transition into their new lives, new students were given temporary guides known as "Orientation Leaders". These OLs were made up of upperclassmen volunteers tasked with making a personal connection with each new student while providing a direct source of guidance into everyday life as a UMW student.

Orientation also featured a wide variety of activities meant to give new students a way to connect with others and see all that UMW has to offer. President Richard "Rick" Hurley even joined in the fun by hosting an ice cream social on his lawn at Brompton. Other activities included appearances by mentalist Craig Karges and comedian Owen Benjamin.

Along with the fun, orientation serves as a way for new students to get acquainted with the business side of Mary Washington. Students attended Honor Convocation where they were introduced to the Honor Code to understand the high expectations placed on each UMW student.

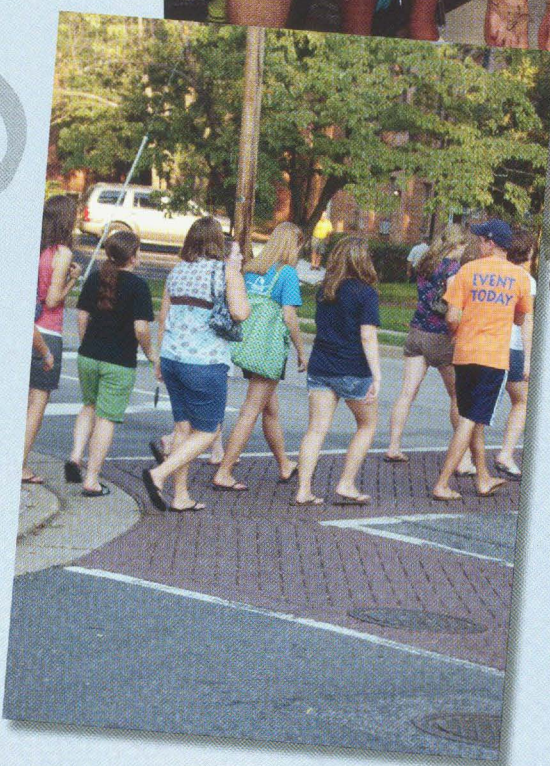

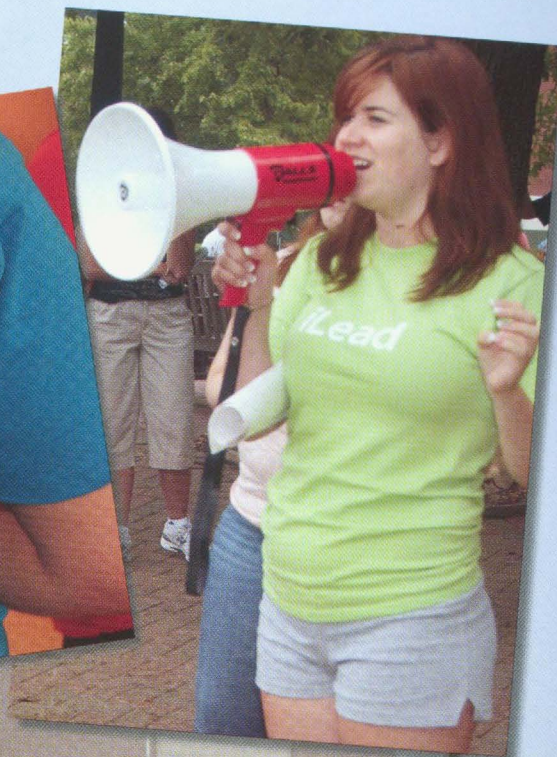

With the help of many welcoming upperclassmen, faculty, and staff, new students found themselves at home in no time.

Club Carnival

*What's the Best Way to Find Your College
Calling? 17 Club E-mail Subscriptions.*

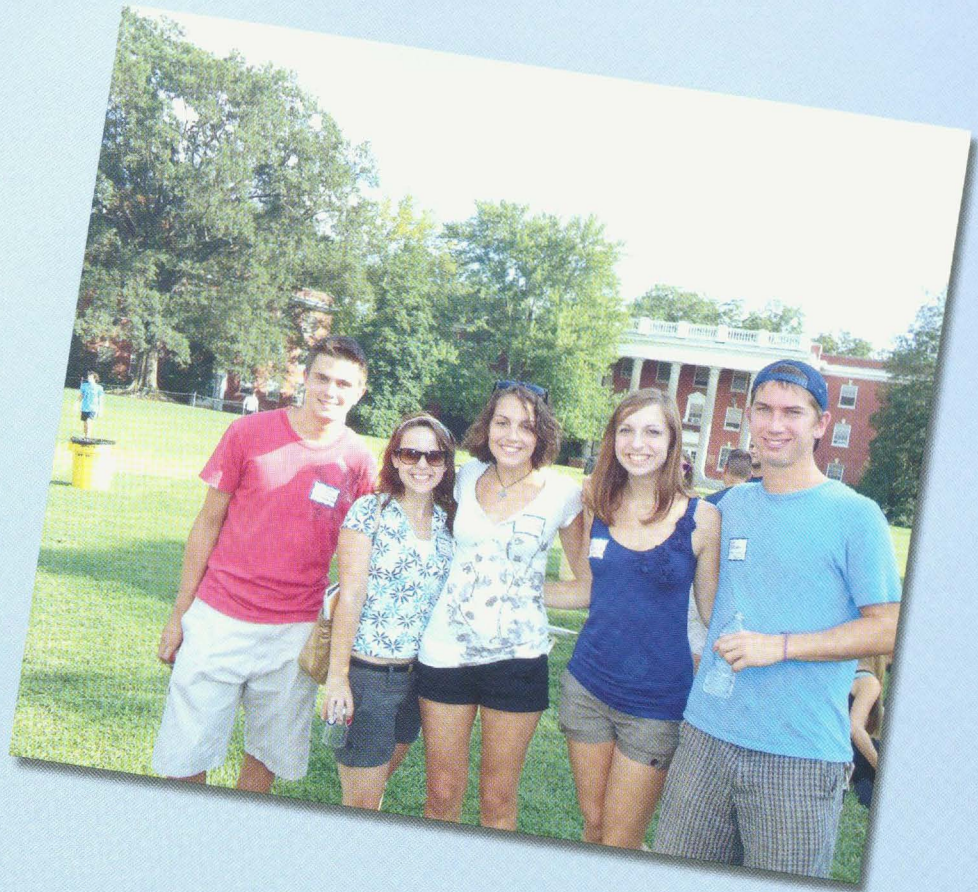

By Audrey McAvoy

On August 25th, Ball Circle was packed with students excited to learn about all the opportunities UMW offers. Every year, Club Carnival is commonly filled with first-year students and upperclassmen alike interested in getting more involved around campus. At UMW, there are currently 138 student-run clubs and organizations, according to OSACS Director Joe Mollo, as quoted in a Bullet article. Freshman Cara Wood, like many others, went to Club Carnival in search of a slice of free pizza, but also learned about the endless activities and clubs at UMW. "I enjoyed the Club Carnival immensely. I found it to be very informative. It was a great way to learn about what is out there at UMW," Wood said. As a result of her participation in Club Carnival, Freshman Katherine Huffman joined the Juggling Club, which up until this year had not been fully recognized by the school. Even for upperclassmen who may have already found their niche, the carnival always provides a valuable social experience, as well as any college student staple: free food.

Meet the Leaders BBQ

Meet the Leaders

New school, new people

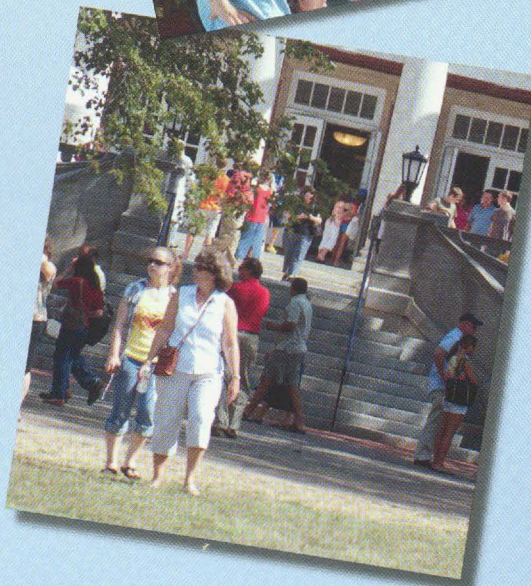

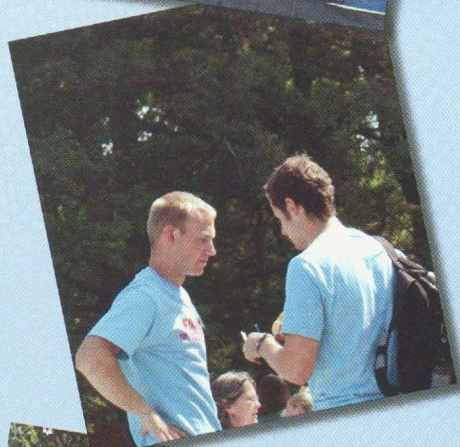

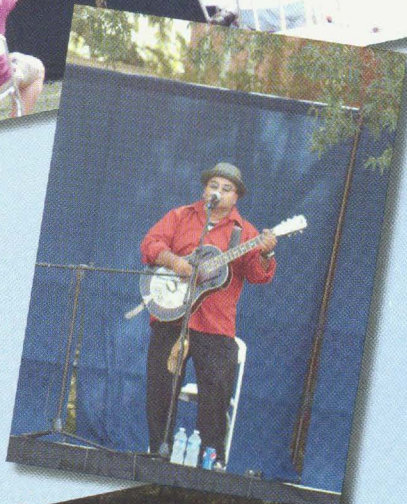

By Jaclyn Petrow

Every year Ball Circle is the setting for the exciting Meet the Leaders BBQ. The event draws a respectable crowd as leaders of the UMW student body come out to enjoy tasty barbeque foods and talk to students. This year club leaders from College Republicans, SGA, and Class Council to name a few came to greet new students and inform them of the exciting opportunities within their clubs. Like many traditions at UMW, the Meet the Leaders BBQ is one that unites new and old students, contributing to the greater UMW community. Freshmen find this BBQ particularly useful in getting accustomed to the UMW campus and social scene. Overall, students enjoyed eating and conversing with others under the summer sun.

A Family Affair

By Alesha James

Over this year's Family Weekend, numerous family members of current UMW students came out to visit the campus and learn about their student's daily life. Everyone had a chance to relax in the September summer sun during a cookout that showcased student clubs and organizations. The UMW Dance Team and the Swing Club did an exceptional job keeping the crowd of families entertained. Also among the entertainment was a fashion show by the Renaissance Club and a demonstration by the Fencing Club. The hard work of many student volunteers and faculty/staff members made this year's Family Weekend a huge success!

By Jaclyn Petrow

The colorful experiences of Latino Identities Month are hard to forget! The month-long celebration featured food and discussion concerning various Latin American countries. The celebration was a fun way for UMW to learn about the pieces of life connected to Latino culture. Latino Identities Month also featured "A Day in the Life of an Immigrant" and "How to Pass the Test" documentaries to enlighten the UMW community. The activities of Latino Identities Month ended with a bang at the Feria de UMW Festival on a beautiful October day. Students joined in the fun by dancing, eating, and doing the limbo.

This year's Rocktoberfest was moved to the Great Hall due to the rainy weather, but that did not make it any less fun! Free Allman's Barbecue drew in the crowd on the chilly first day of October. The sun came out just in time to enjoy the outdoor activities, such as the water balloon toss, cornhole and reverse tie-dying. Inside, the bands We Shot the Moon, Hounds and Green Boys performed to a crowd of students. The bands featured a mixture of reggae, southern rock and hip hop. HaHas for TaTas

A Fun Night for a Good Cause

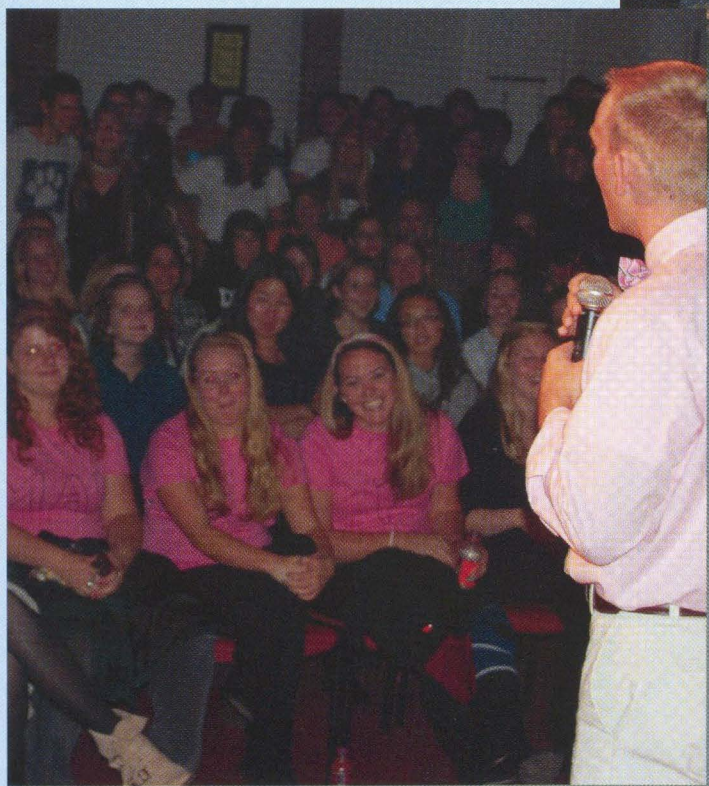

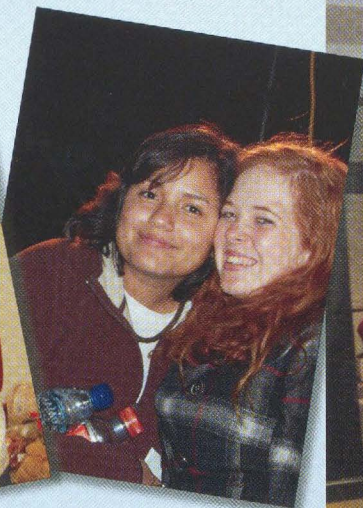

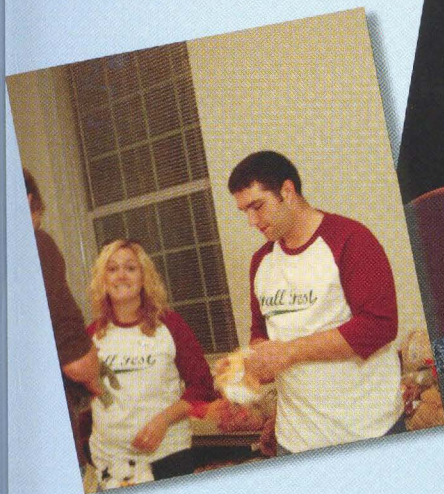

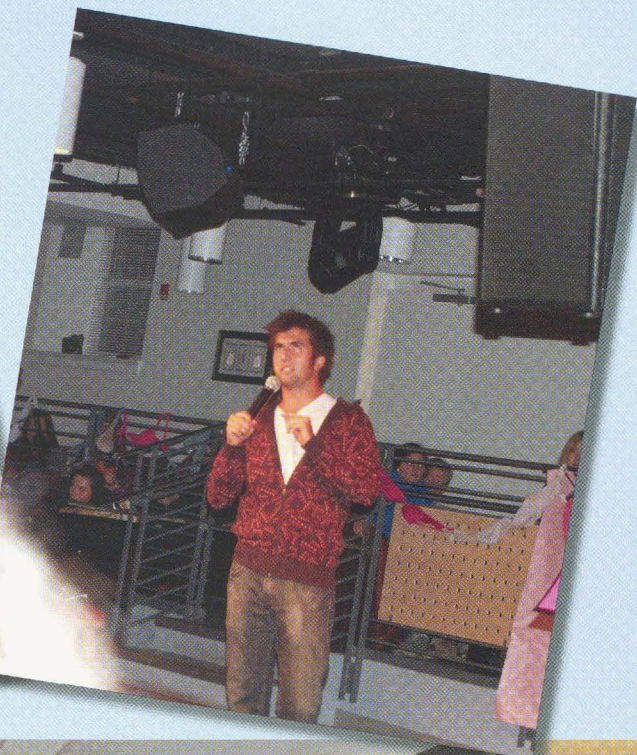

By Alesha James

Many came out to support the third annual "HaHas for TaTas" celebration. "HaHas for TaTas" is a yearly fundraiser where people donate their money and used bras to help women battling breast cancer. This year the fundraiser featured performances by student stand-up comics including Kyle Dratwa, Mitchell Bass, Amanda McCullough, Chris Vellucci, Maura Monahan, Kyle Allwine, Ashley Townsend Hart and alumni Bryan Keys.

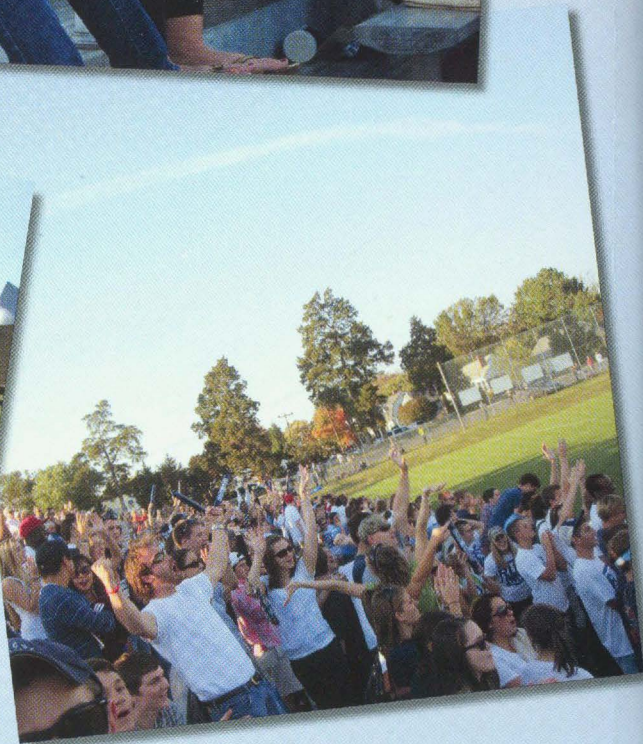

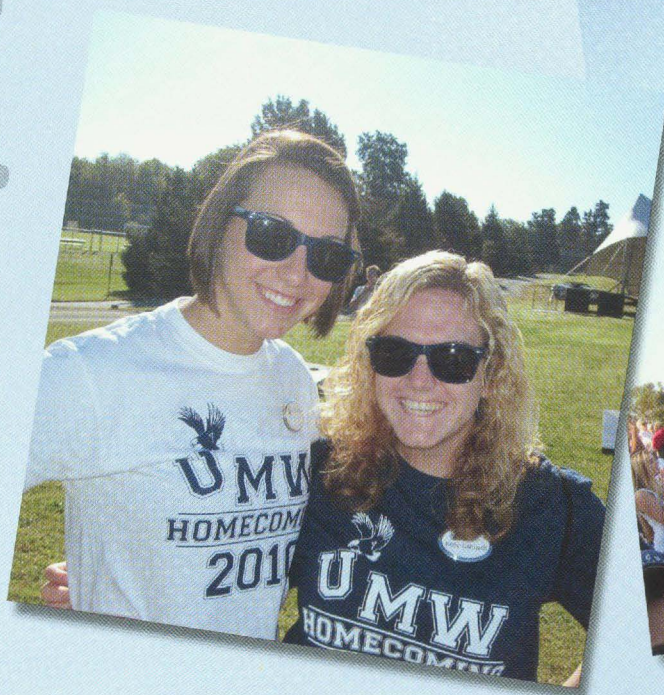

Students showed further support by wearing the traditional color of pink in honor of Breast Cancer Awareness Month. A variety of activities kept everyone entertained. People enjoyed a local band, caricatures, sandy candy, sand art, arcade games, free funnel cakes, and a build-a-bear workshop!

Over $800 was collected and donated to Networks of Strength, an organization that helps to aide breast cancer patients. Over 200 bras were gathered and given to women who cannot afford to buy their own bras (As reported by the Bullet).

Bleed Blue and Gray!

By Alesha James

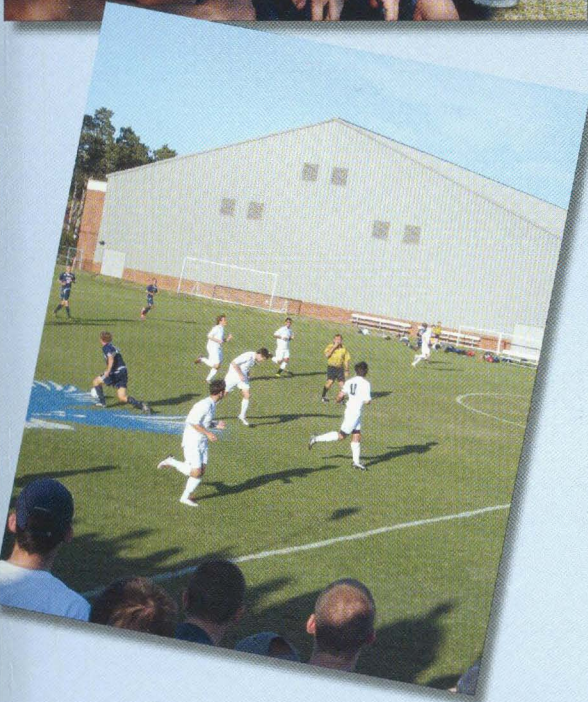

UMW celebrated Homecoming this year with much vigor. Students enjoyed shows including acoustic act Truman and magician Derek Hughes.

The Association of Residence Halls also hosted a pep rally and bonfire on Jefferson Square. This ignited a huge wave of UMW spirit among students, faculty, and alumni. Cheerleaders danced and cheered their absolute hardest to get the crowd pumped and oozing with excitement.

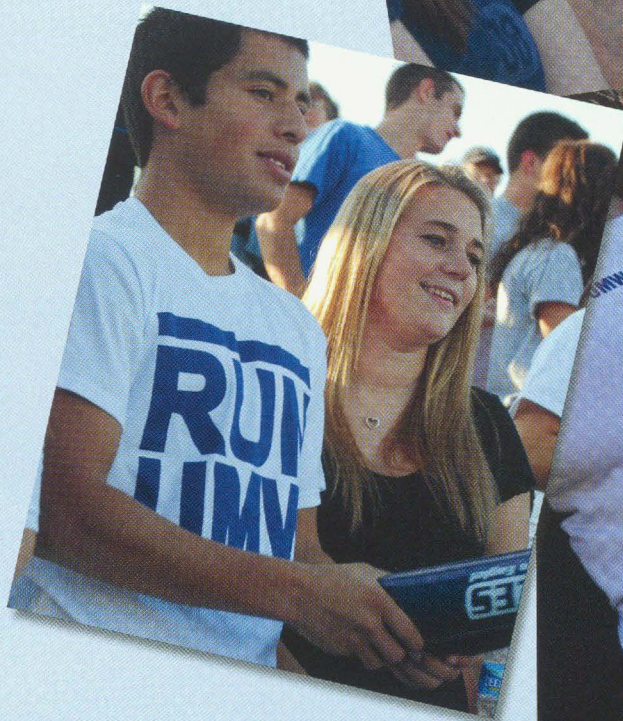

In addition to these festivities, SGA hosted a Homecoming Carnival and BBQ on Ball Circle. Students were overwhelmed with excitement when they were given a free 24-pack of Amp Energy drinks. Other activities included laser tag, free pictures, games, and funnel cakes. This was truly a way for students to bond and relax in a carefree UMW environment.

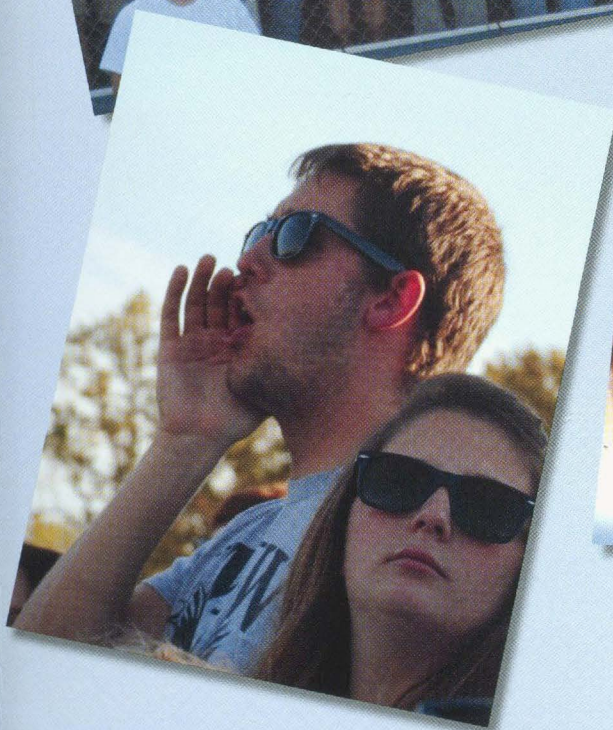

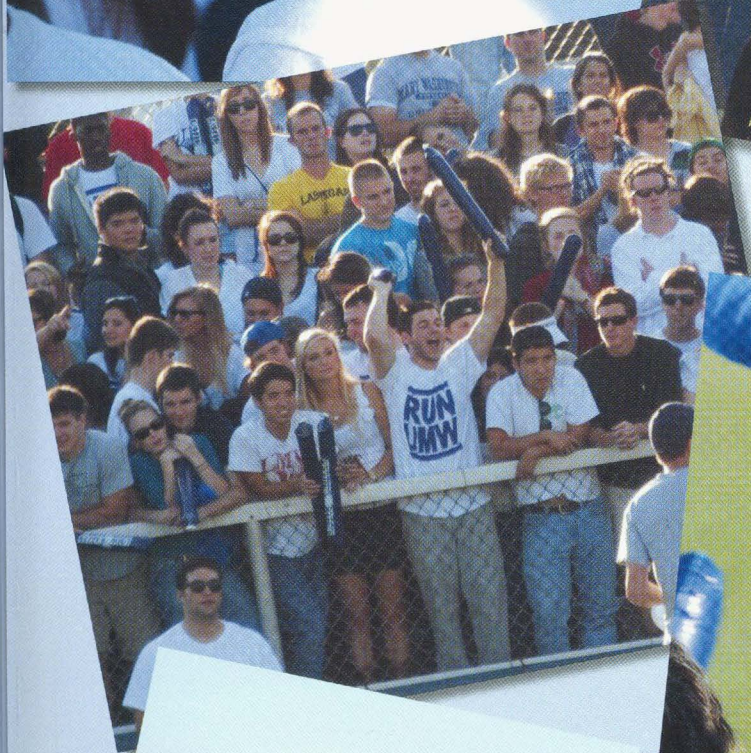

To finish the week, Giant Productions presented yet another attention-grabbing artist. Rapper Wale performed a successful concert at the Battlegrounds, although it was the center of much complaint from some of UMW's neighbors.

Lip Sync

Sing Your Heart Out

By Audrey McAvoy

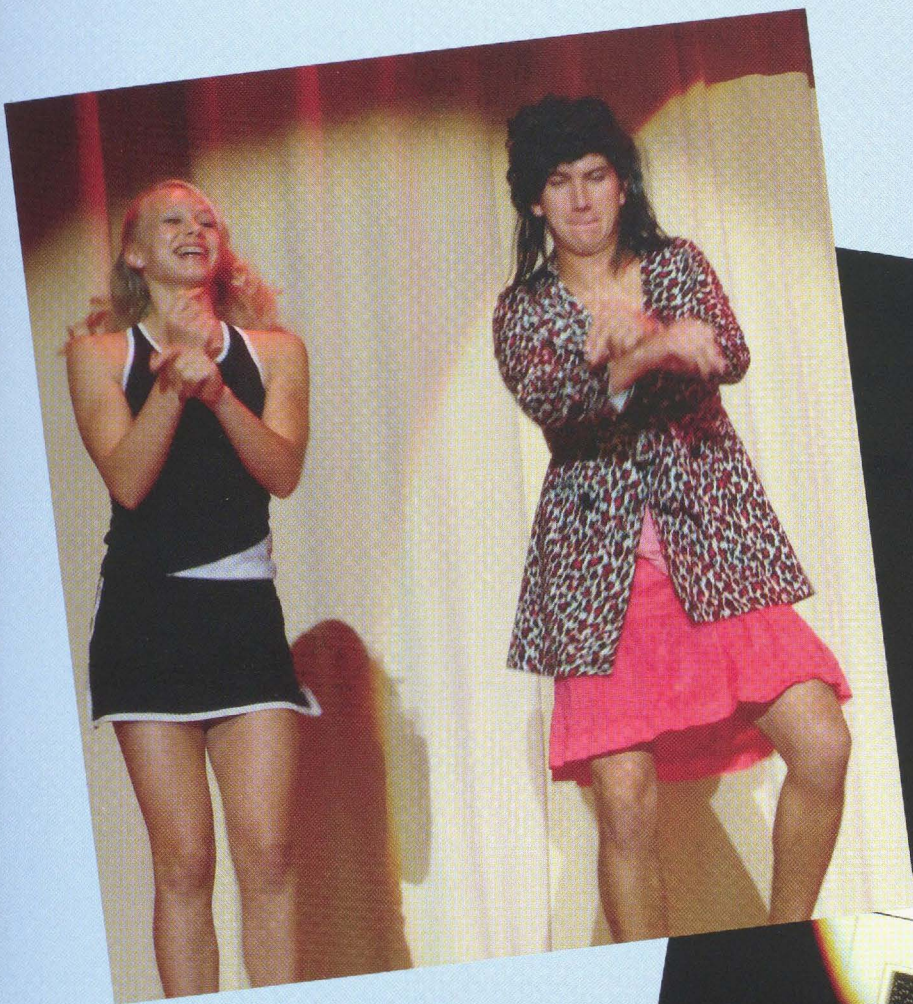

This year's Lip Sync contest, held on October 20th, was a hit from start to finish. The host of the night's events, Chris Vellucci, began the evening with palatable enthusiasm, engaging the audience's attention from the get-go.

Competing students formed groups of two or more and choreographed a dance while lip syncing to at least one song. As an added bonus, competitors wore costumes that were well thought out and vibrant, fitting the theme of each song perfectly. Groups even went as far as to create elaborate names for themselves, such as "The Group That Needs No Introduction", "In Ratio", and "When Romance Meets Destiny". Even the ROTC decided to take part in the performance.

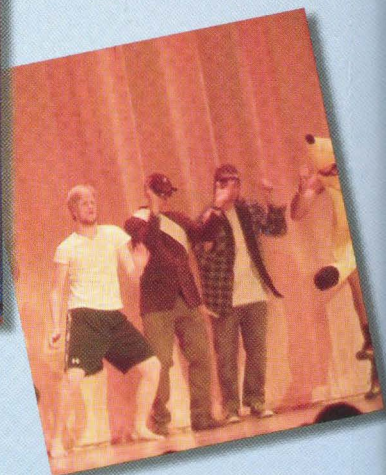

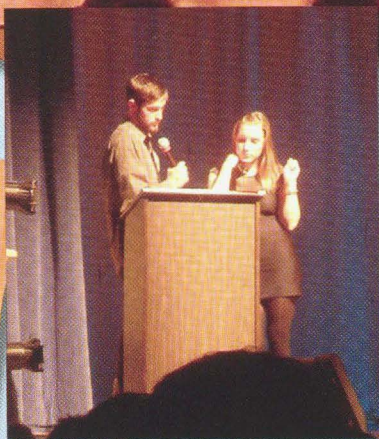

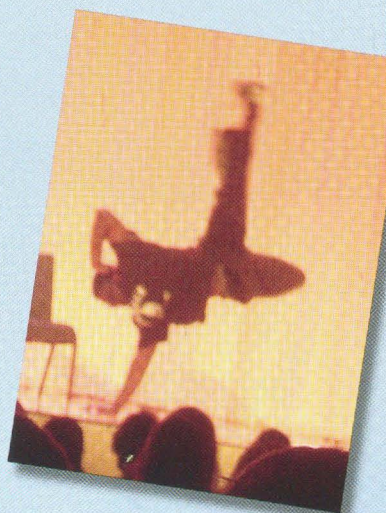

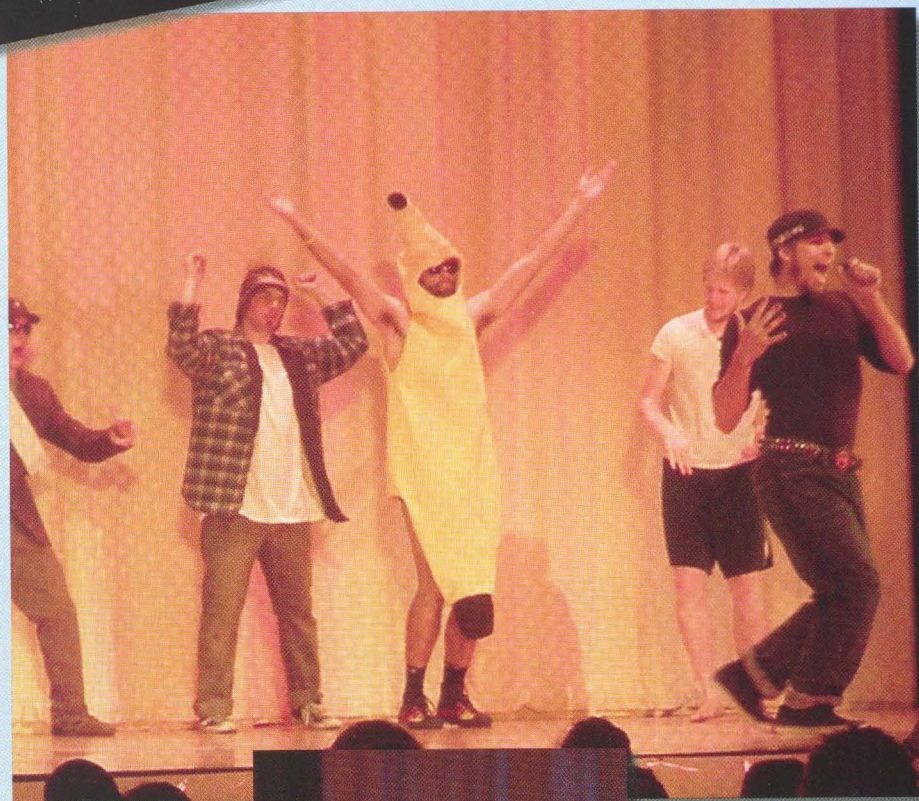

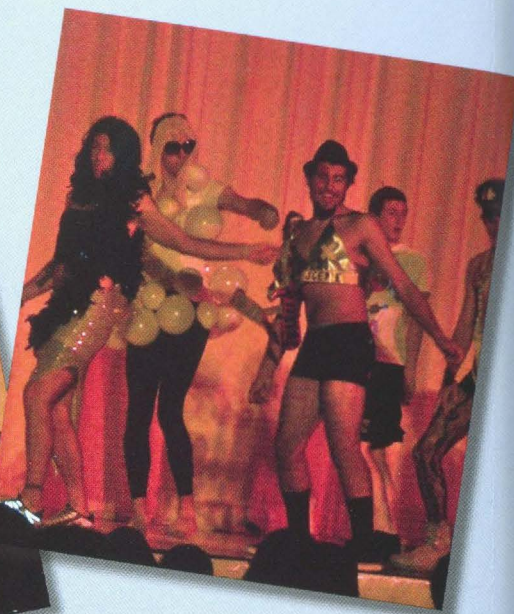

In the end, the group "In Ratio," comprised of six theatre majors, stole the hearts of the audience, winning the contest.

Mr. UMW

For the Honor and the Glory

By Paulina Kosturos

This year eighteen sexy men competed for the coveted title of Mr. UMW. Only the most poised and skilled was crowned king. This year's competition featured a choreographed dance to an array of Lady Gaga songs. The men leapt on stage in colorful and wacky outfits, attempting to seduce the audience. In addition to the dance, the competition also featured a talent and sportswear section. The men took this opportunity to show off their favorite pasttimes and physical activities. Despite Dodd's technical difficulties, the contestants exhibited their best assets. Mr. Eagle Landing North, Andrew Hogan, performed an energetic dance to Shakira's "She Wolf" music video. Mr. Framar showcased his nun-chuck skills. Another competitor lip-synced to Ceelo Green's "Forget You". Ultimately, Zein Al-Atrache (Mr. Framar) was crowned Mr. UMW. He exhibited an amazing set of skills in each category, wowing the judges.

Halloween

Halloween

Creepin' Around Campus

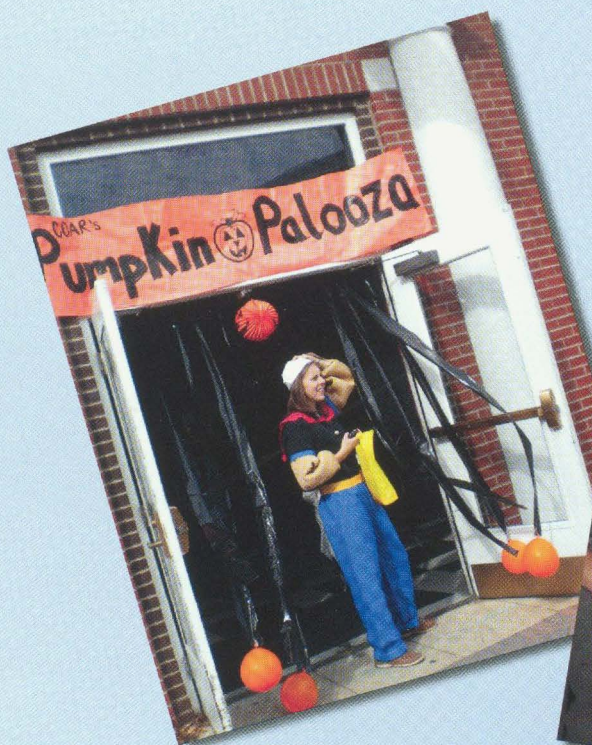

By Jaclyn Petrow

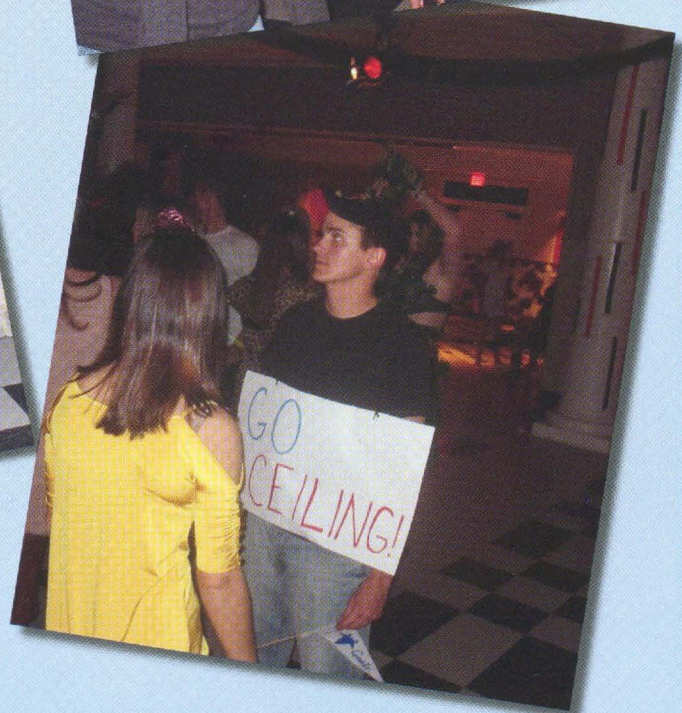

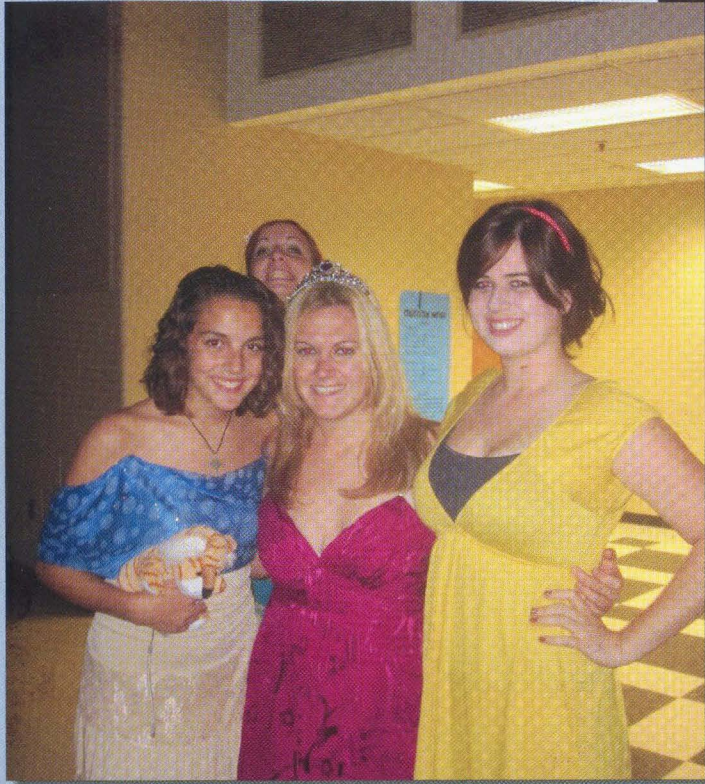

The spooky magic of Halloween manifested itself at UMW with the annual celebration of "Halloweens". Located in the Great Hall, Halloweens gave students an excuse to dress up, dance, and hangout with friends. Costumes ranged from the typical firefighter and policeman to lady bugs, indistinguishable home-made costumes, and the very clever "ceiling fan" costume donned by Mike Kappert.

Aside from Halloweens, COAR sponsored Pumpkin Palooza. Pumpkin Palooza is a great experience where kids and parents from the Fredericksburg area participate in various craft projects hosted by the students. This year, the Juggling Club even made an appearance.

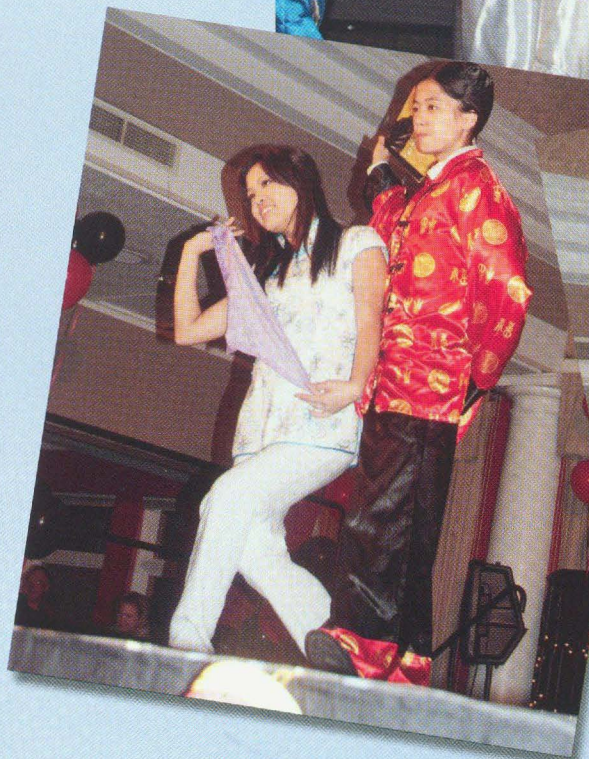

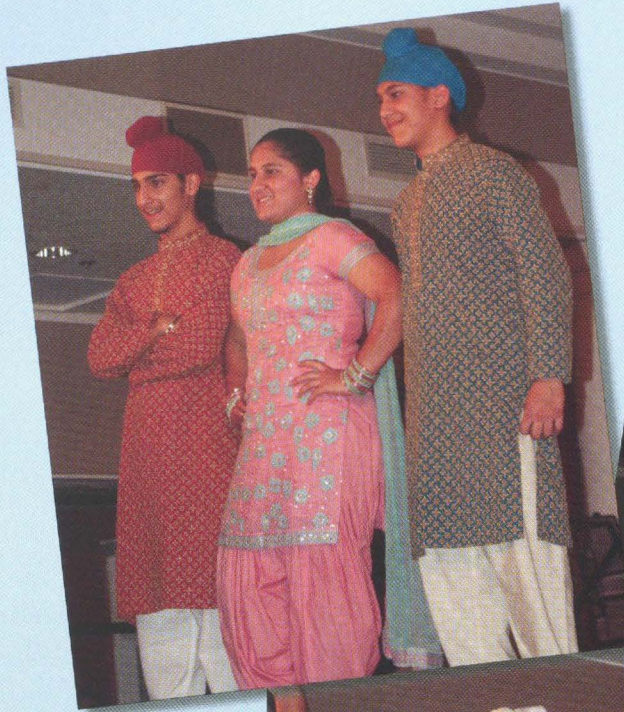

Halloweens and Pumpkin Palooza were fun events for the entire Fredericksburg community and a nice study break for students.

Giving Back Never Seemed So Fun

By Whitney Hanlin

This year Community Outreach and Resources (COAR) made a huge effort to give back to underprivileged children in the surrounding areas.

COAR began by encouraging students, faculty, and staff to pledge donations of toys, clothes, and other necessities to fill boxes. The group then set up a wrapping party in the Dome Room of Seacobeck Hall to further encourage students to get involved with the project. From there, COAR continued to collect donations through the end of the fall semester.

All in all, COAR was able to fill and wrap a total of 687 boxes. Students even had the opportunity to personally deliver the gifts to witness their efforts meeting their end goal.

Midnight Breakfast

By Paulina Kosturos

Every year during finals week, Seacobeck Hall sponsors its exciting late night event, "Midnight Breakfast". During Midnight Breakfast, UMW faculty and staff members work as servers to dish out a wide variety of breakfast foods, such as sausage, tater tots, and eggs for students while they take a break from studying. In addition, all students who attend are automatically entered into a raffle for a chance to win some cool prizes. This year's prizes included various giftcards and a Band Hero game. Winning students were thrilled with their prizes.

Although finals week is a stressful time for many, Midnight Breakfast offers some tasty fun where students can relax.

Some People Just Can't Handle the Heat

By Karmel James

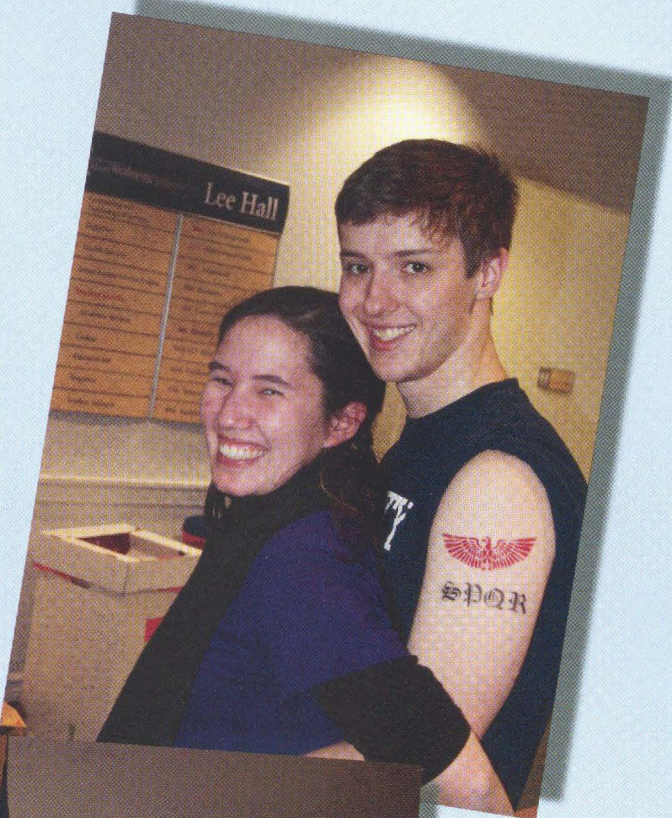

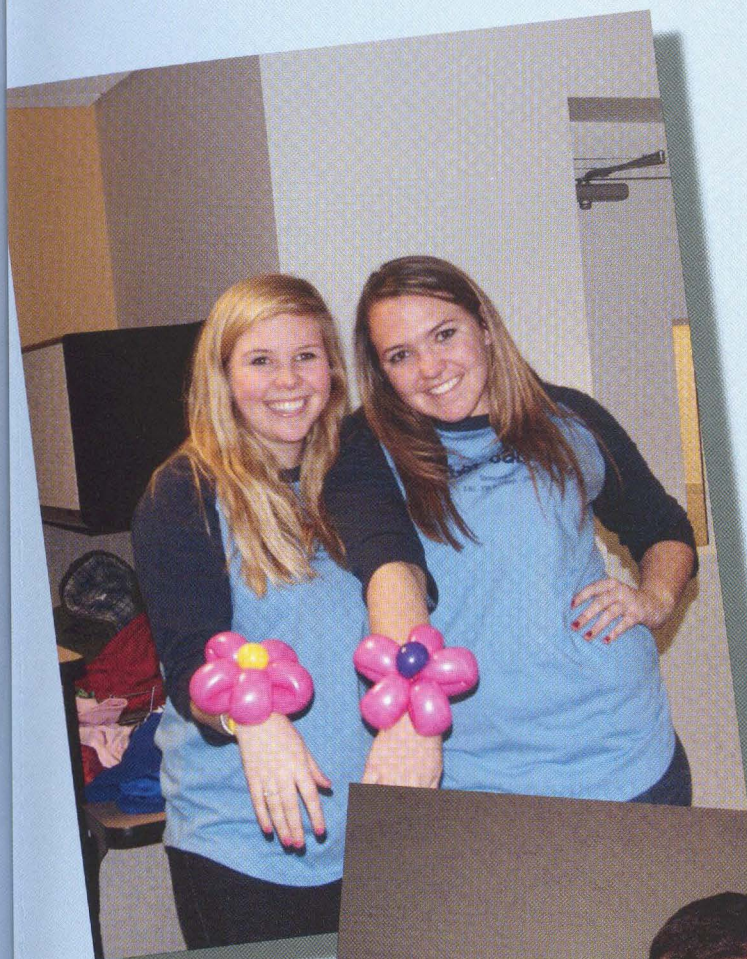

This year's Winter Carnival, hosted by UPC, Giant Productions, FBLA, and AMS, featured four floors filled with laughter, fun, and adventure. Students bellowed how they really felt with the live band karaoke in the Underground, while others rocked it out with air-brushed tattoos on the 2nd floor Lee Hall. The fun didn't stop there! The third floor featured a balloon artist, snow-globe pictures, and 'gr8' license plates. Topping it all off, the fourth floor held build-a-bear (or another fuzzy animal of your choosing) and a round of mini golf. No matter where students went in Lee Hall, they surely weren't too cold to participate in all the activities offered at Winter Carnival!

One hundred, ninety-nine, ninety-eight...three, two, one...Senior Countdown marks the hundred-day point until graduation day. Every year UMW fails to let this day go by unacknowledged by providing food, dancing, and casino games, and prizes to seniors.

In addition to providing entertainment, Senior Countdown also acts as a milestone that enables seniors to reflect on the friendships, the fun, and the love that they discovered here at UMW.

This year, UMW hosted another successful and exciting step show as a part of the celebration of Black History Month. Sponsored by Women of Color and Brothers of a New Direction (BOND), the competition featured high school step teams from across Virginia. The competition was fierce as the various step teams created interesting rhythms and sounds to capture the judges' votes.

Participants were not only judged on their unique rhythms but on their creativity. One team raided the stage twirling multicolored umbrellas as they stepped to Rihanna's song "Umbrella". Other teams dressed as toys, wore gym outfits, and white shirts with matching ties as they stepped to songs like "Pretty Girl Rock" and the theme song from Rocky. Overall, Osbourn Park High School exhibited the best routine, winning a first place trophy and $500.

Spending Our Time Off Doing Good

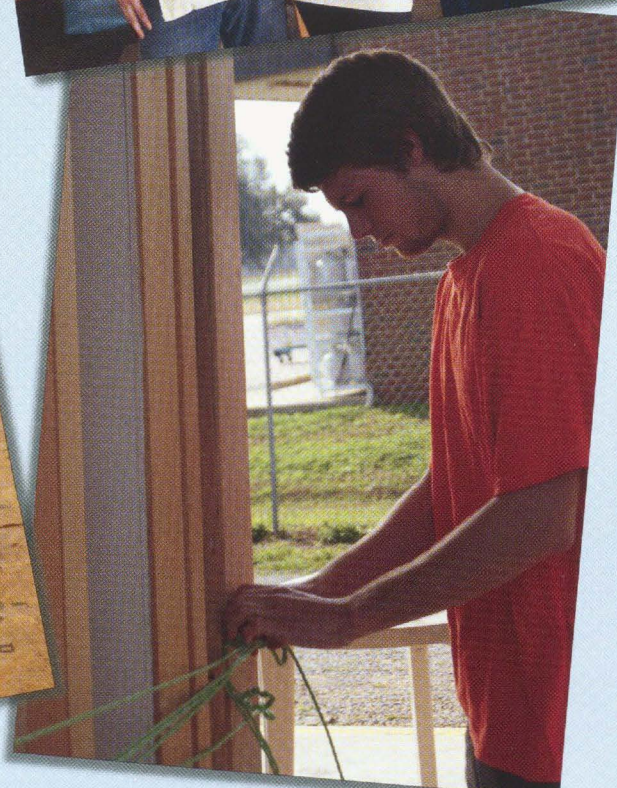

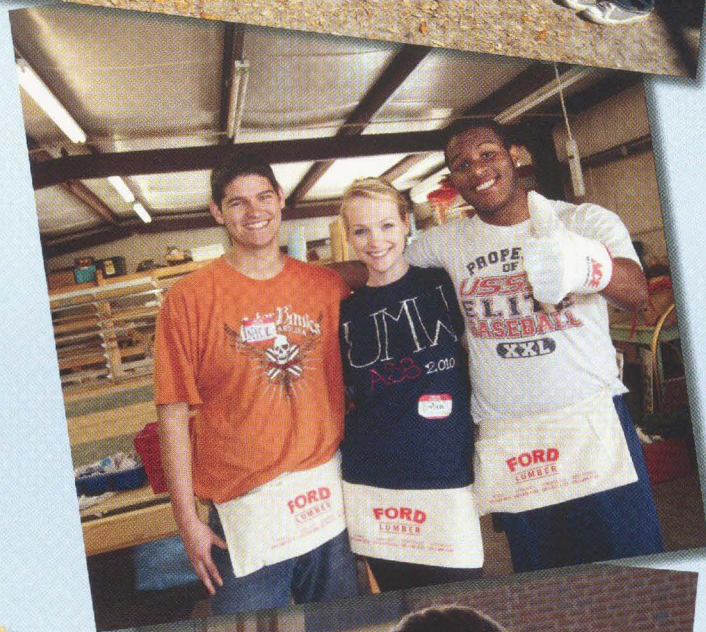

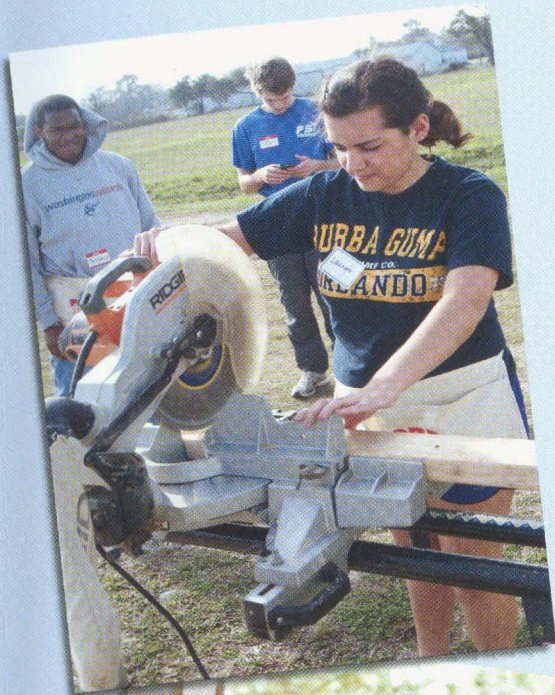

By Whitney Hanlin

This Spring Break, UMW students gave their time participating in service projects around the world. COAR organized Habitat for Humanity trips to three different states—Alabama, North Carolina, and South Carolina. The opportunities allowed students to spend their time building homes for low-income families. Upon their return, it was clear the participants held the trip in high regard and strongly encouraged others to join in next year.

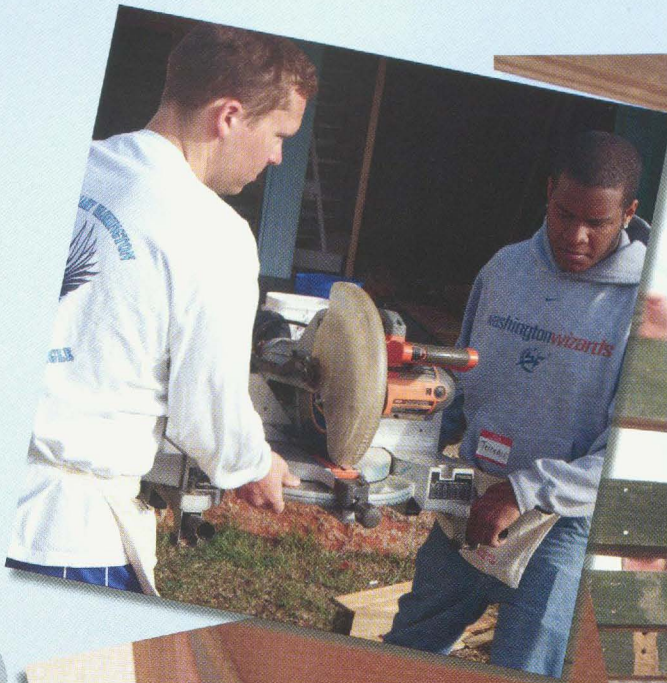

In addition to participating in service projects with Habitat for Humanity, several members of Students Helping Honduras (SHH) traveled to the country to work on building a school for the children in the Honduran village of La Nunez. Those students also had many positive memories and are excited to go again on future trips!

O'Rucker's Casino

Feeling Lucky?

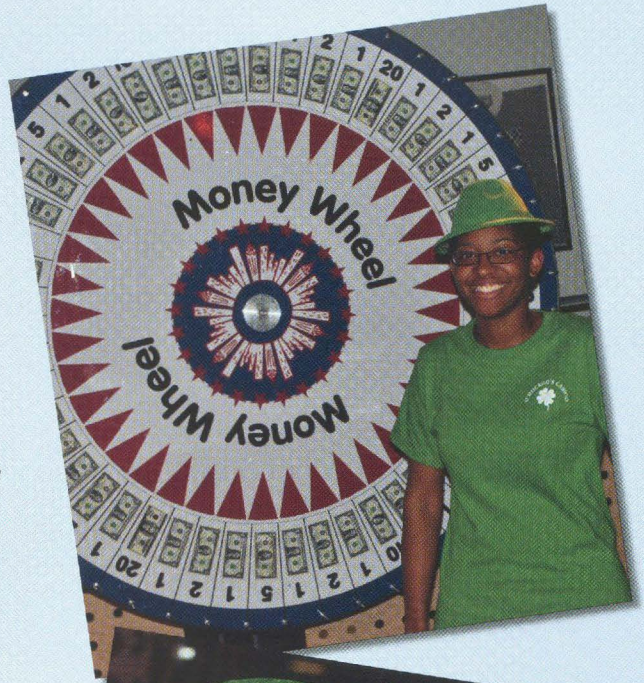

By Karmel James

Hosted by the Underground Programming Council, O'Rucker's Casino Night was a match made in Fred Vegas. The week leading up to the event, UPC members placed special chips all over campus with the O'Rucker's Casino logo for students to redeem at the event for $25,000 in chips and a raffle ticket. In addition to using the special chips, students could donate money to charity: water to receive even more chips and a raffle ticket.

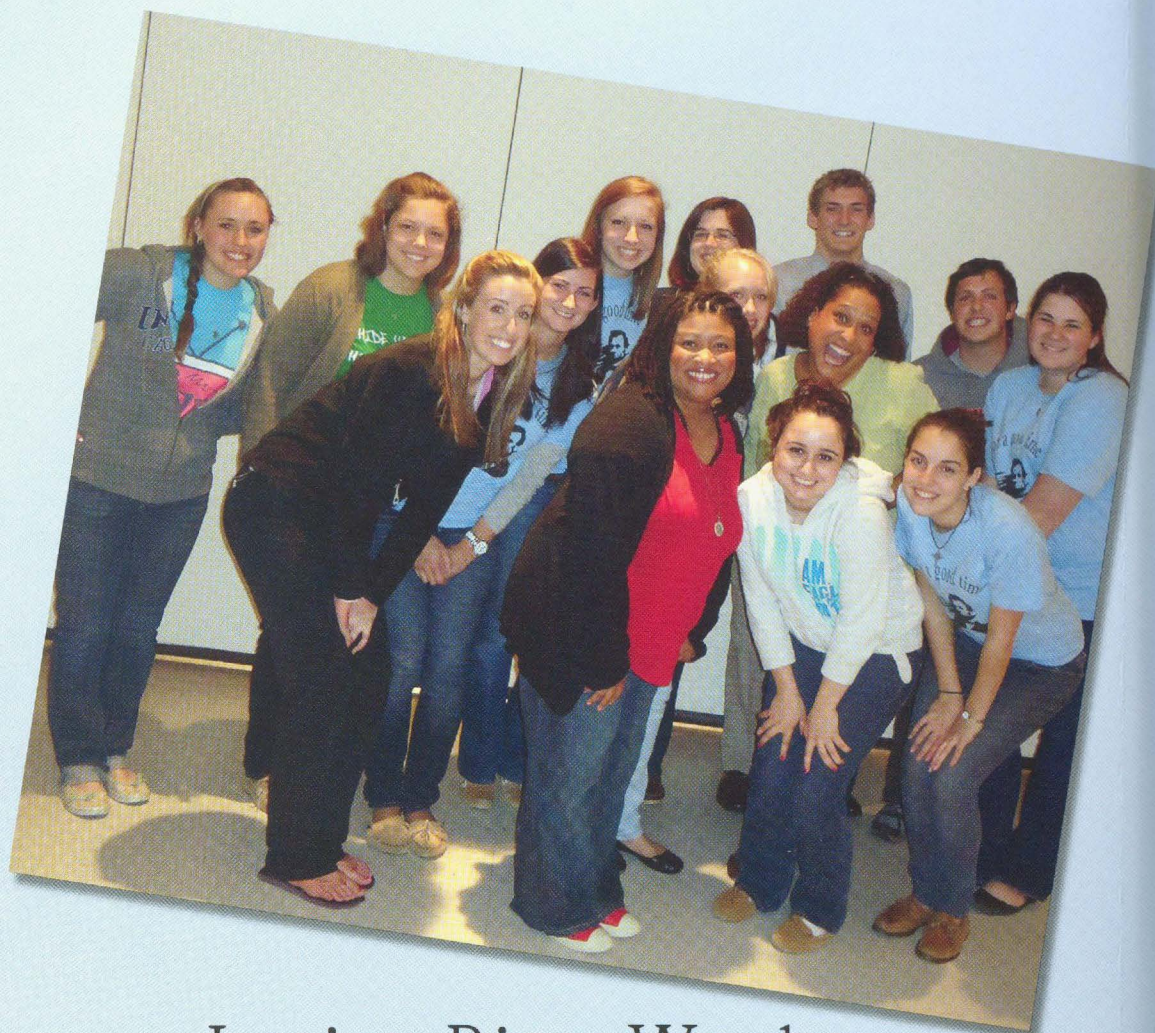

Students tested their luck at many games including Texas Hold 'Em, roulette, blackjack, and craps. At the conclusion of the night, student exchanged their chips for raffle tickets that went into a large drum. UPC members picked tickets and gave out a large variety of prizes.

Overall the night was a success and UPC plans to hold the event annually!

For the Lords and Ladies

By Jaclyn Petrow

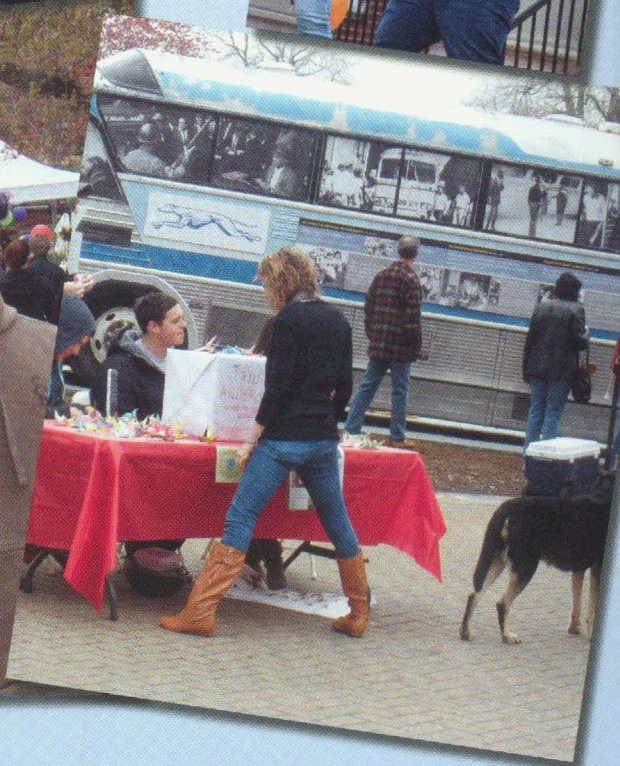

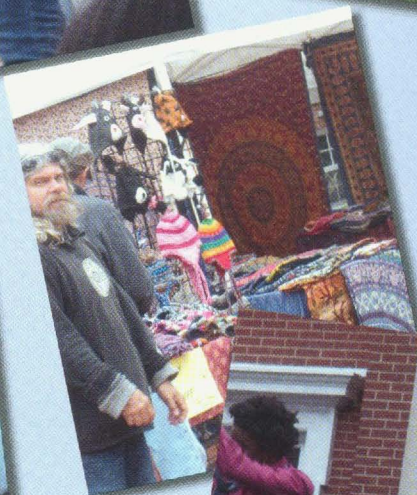

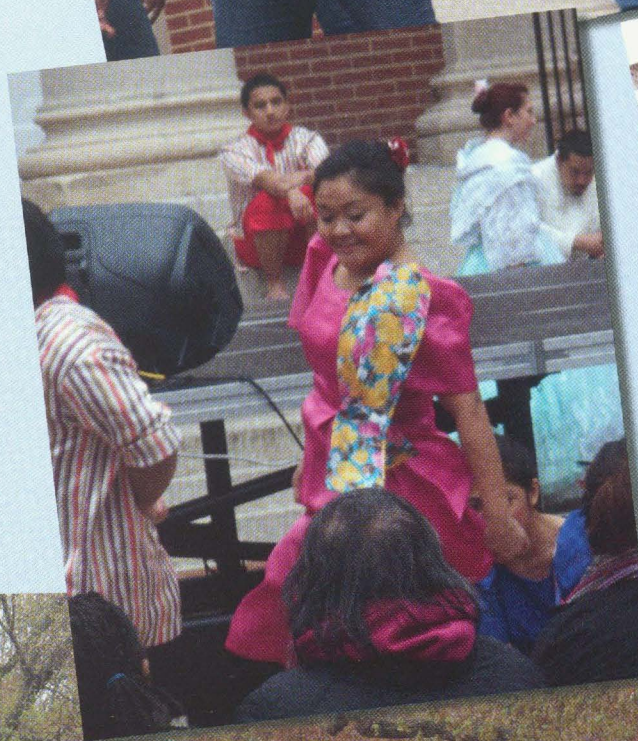

The Historic Preservation Club hosted its annual Victorian Ball where the music, the setting, and food transported students back in time. Students dressed in their best Victorian apparel to add to the overall effect of the evening. Many women opted for colorful dresses, tight in the waist and fanned out at the bottom. Some students even designed their own gowns. Many men arrived looking dapper in their top hats and frock coats.

The Victorian Ball was another way for UMW students to showcase their love of the past. The Victorian Ball remains one of the Historic Preservation Club's most enjoyed activities.

Along with the movie, students enjoyed free popcorn to make for the perfect movie-watching atmosphere. On Tuesday, ARH hosted its first ever "Ms. UMW" pageant. Similar to the popular "Mr. UMW" pageant, females representing their residence halls and the commuter student population competed for the coveted title of "Ms. UMW". Each competitor showcased a talent, evening attire and sportswear. Representing Framar, Yuna Lee proudly took home the title. On Wednesday, the Underground hosted its regularly held bingo night with a school-spirit twist. Prizes for the night included UMW hats, t-shirts, and hoodies, among other UMW-themed items. On Thursday, Giant Productions proudly hosted the band Circa Survive, which brought a lot of energy to campus. Joining Together in the Face of Adversity

By Whitney Hanlin

Flaunting an array of rainbow colored t-shirts, UMW students flocked to Ball Circle to join PRISM in participating in the National Day of Silence. The day is dedicated towards bringing attention to the discrimination many individuals face due to their sexual orientation.

The ever-popular t-shirts read, "Virginia is for Lovers, *Some Restrictions Apply, see state legislators for details," a clever twist on the state's slogan that certainly met it's attention-grabbing goal. The event was so successful it was honored at this year's UMW Leadership Awards Ceremony.

The Great Hall was filled with non-stop fun activities, including laser tag, wax hands, air-brushed tattoos, sand art, make-a-lei, scenic photos, t-shirt and frisbee spin art, a foam dance party, and the popular mechanical pig races!

With a ton of activities to choose from, hunger surely reared in attendees' stomachs. Luckily, with a barbeque outside, sno-cones, popcorn, and sandy candy, no student went unfed.

Despite the strange weather, students had a blast taking full advantage of all that Spring Fling had to offer.

Philanthropic Fun in the Sun

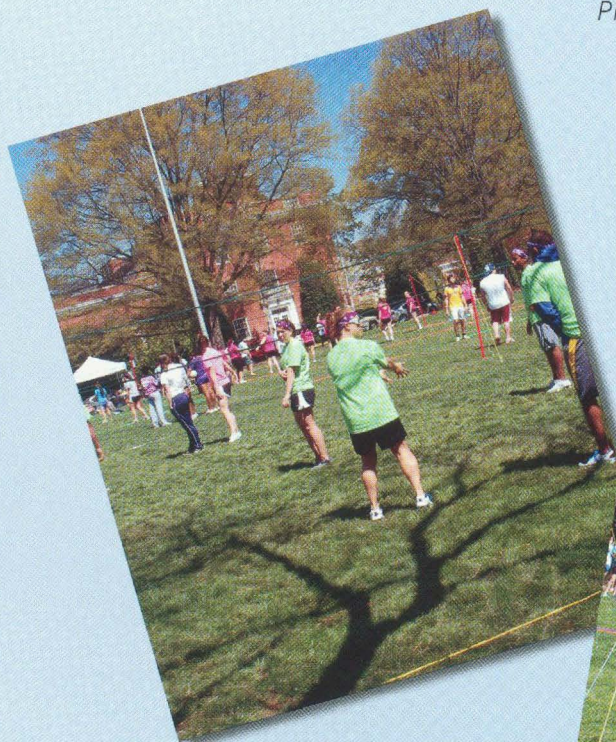

By Whitney Hanlin

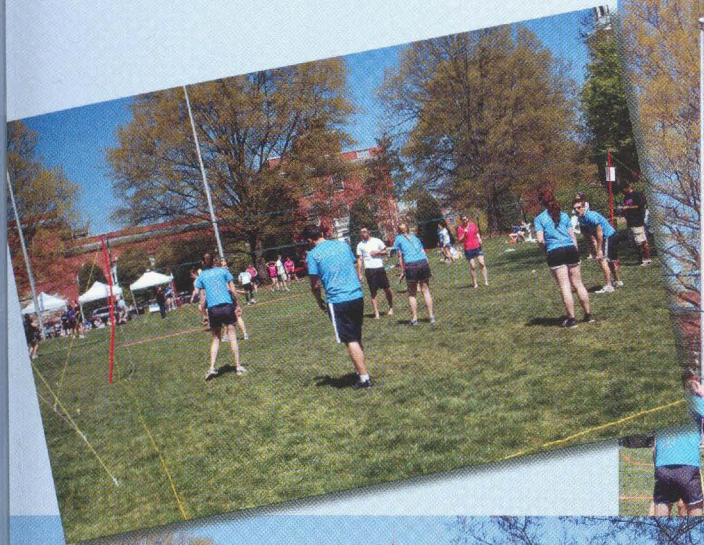

As one of the most anticipated philanthropic events of the year, Students Helping Honduras (SHH) turned Jefferson Square into an impressive sight for this year's volleyball tournament. Several groups of students formed teams, raised money, and even made matching uniforms to support the efforts of the club. The event featured free food and drinks, including seemingly endless cases of Monster energy drinks.

The SHH Volleyball Tournament not only brought in fundraising dollars from participants, but encouraged donations from spectators by offering raffle tickets towards the chance at winning from the immense array of prizes. The spread included everything from Chick-Fil-A gift certificates to a Keurig coffee machine and a GPS device.

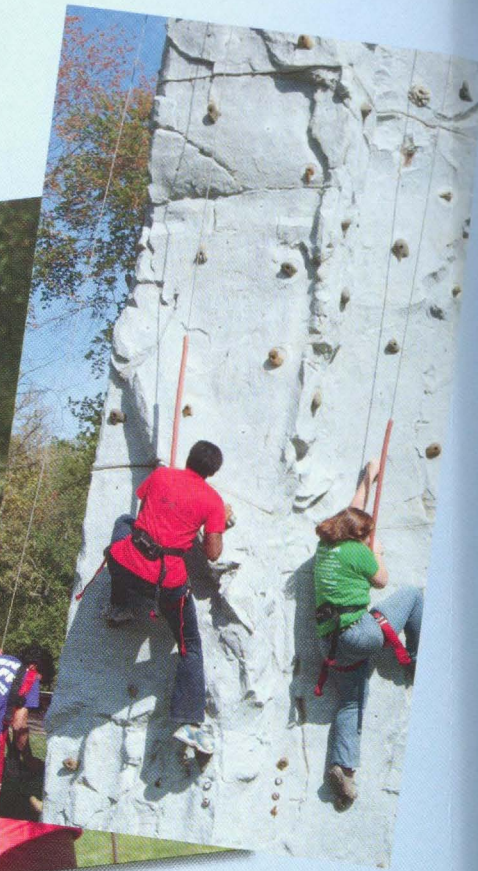

The day brought much energy to the campus on a Sunday afternoon, providing a colorful and enthusiastic event for all those in attendance.

What Did You Do To Get Your T-shirt?

By Paulina Kosturos

Every year, Class Council hosts the fun-filled "Devil Goat Day" carnival to encourage some friendly class competition. Even-numbered graduating classes are known as "goats", while odd-numbered classes are known as "devils". The two teams compete against each other in challenges all day, winning raffle tickets. The team with the most tickets is declared the winner.

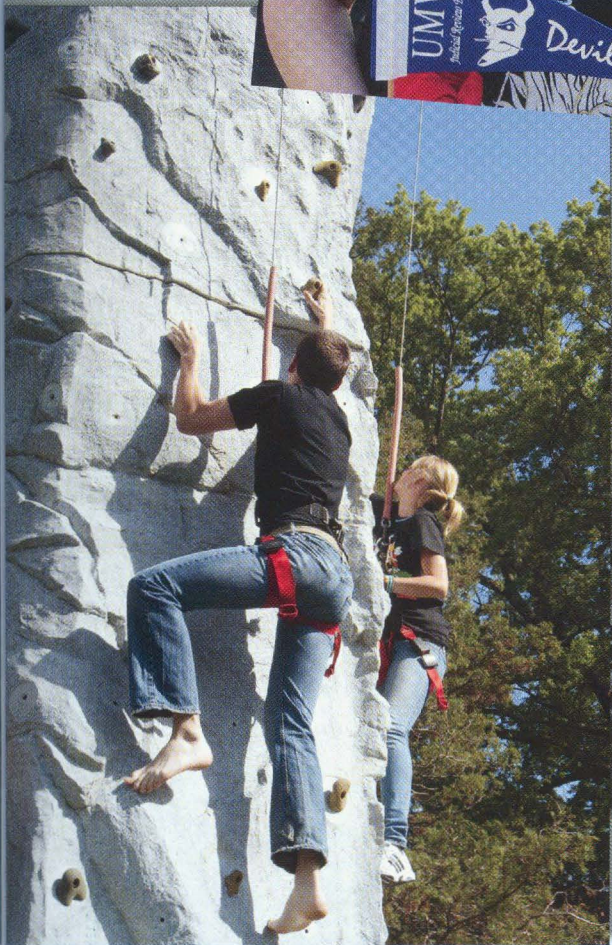

This year, in accordance with UMW tradition, students waited in line for over an hour to obtain the highly coveted Devil Goat Day t-shirts. Following the t-shirt giveaway, Senator Mark Warner kicked off the event with a short speech while the band Elmwood kept the fun moving with their energetic music. The carnival itself was packed with exciting games like Laser Tag and Gladiator Joust. Students also chowed down on free pizza and cotton candy as they enjoyed the spring weather.

Kickin' it in the 'Burg

By Alesha James

The historic town of Fredericksburg promotes a college-friendly atmosphere that offers a wide variety of things to do. From sipping your favorite latte and reading a New York Times best seller at Hyperion to grabbing a juicy thick burger at Capital Ale House, Fredericksburg is a place that both young and old alike enjoy.

Students enjoyed jumping on the Fred bus to catch a movie at the local cinema or going to the Krispie Kreme Doughnut shop to satisfy their sweet tooth during the long winter months when Carl's was closed. Students also volunteered at the local food bank, homeless shelter, the American Red Cross and Habitat for Humanity. In addition, the Walking Tours of Historic Fredericksburg invited guests to take a look inside the many historic attributes that originated in the city.

Overall Fredericksburg provides students with a very active and enjoyable environment.

Renovations

New Campus

By Elizabeth Crow

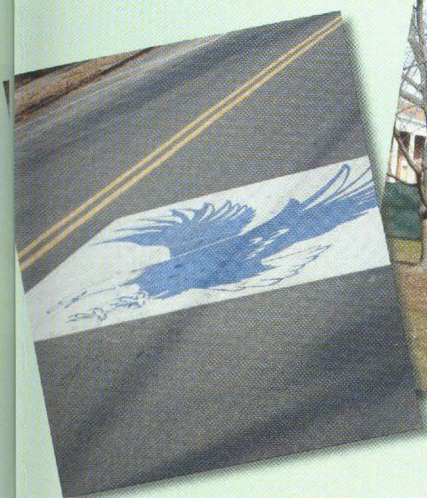

The academic year of 2010-2011 brought students a campus with three buildings undergoing renovations and the construction of a new building.

Monroe Hall was constructed in 1911 and was the first academic building on campus. As Monroe Hall is almost 100 years old, many structural elements were in need of renovations. The renovations of Monroe Hall began in May of 2009. The wooden columns at the front and rear entrances were rotting and needed replaced. The renovation also includes the addition of new windows and the installation of new heating, ventilation and air conditioning systems. The recent renovation caused several departments, including Geography, History and American Studies, Anthropology, Sociology, Political Science, and International Affairs, to be displaced into trailers. The renovations caused many to be concerned about losing the original murals on the walls.

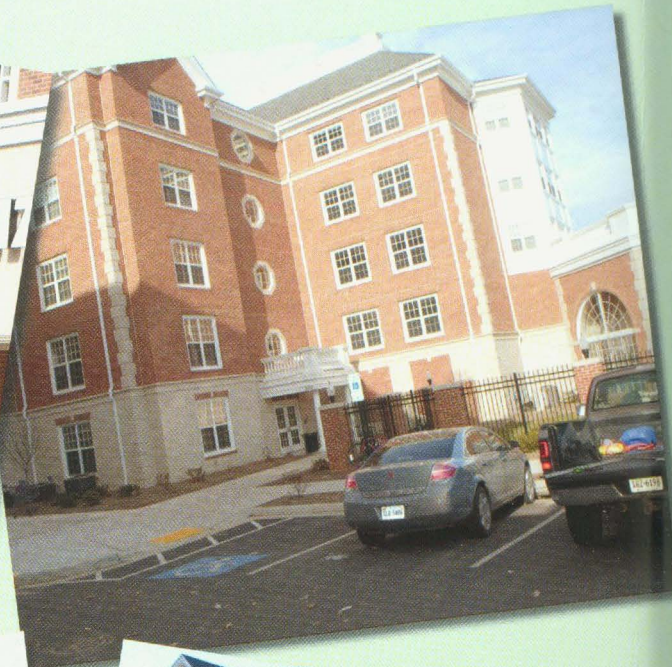

The former dormitories, Mason and Randolph Halls, began reconstruction and remodeling in the summer of 2010. Mason and Randolph were constructed as residence halls in 1954 and have been traditionally popular dorms. Mason Hall was a freshmen dormitory and the mirroring Randolph Hall housed upperclassmen. The buildings are being remodeled with new elevators, air conditioning, and ventilation systems. The buildings will also feature four new apartments for Residence Life building supervisors and faculty. Upon completion of their renovations, the dormitories are expected to sleep 288 students.

In between Randolph and Mason, construction for a new multi-use facility with interactive meeting rooms featuring multi-media technology has begun. Students, clubs, and organizations will be able to reserve the space for educational and social use.

Eagle Village

Expanding Our University

By Whitney Hanlin

Just before students arrived on campus for the 2010-2011 school year, the University of Mary Washington held the dedication and ribbon-cutting ceremony for Eagle Village. Eagle Village is a pedestrian-friendly shopping center that also features UMW's newest residential hall, Eagle Landing. Eagle Landing houses 624 students in 156 2-bedroom apartments each housing 4 students.

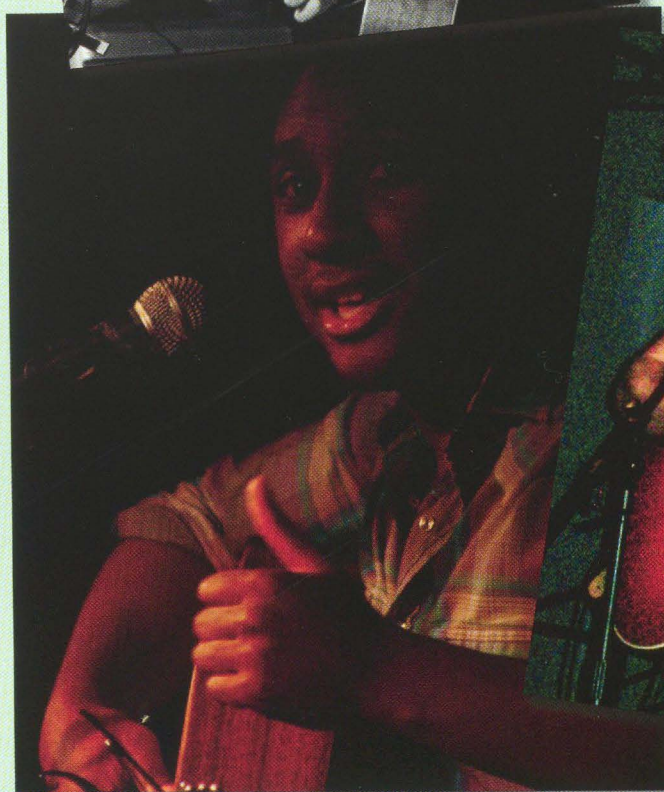

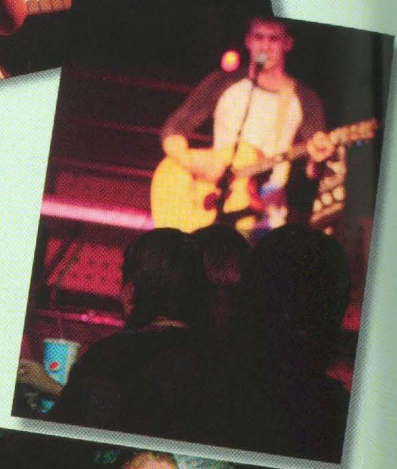

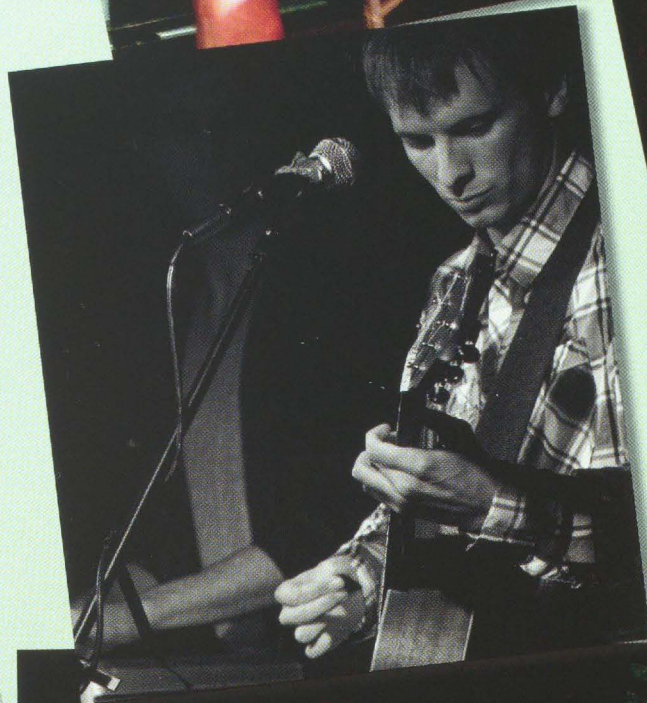

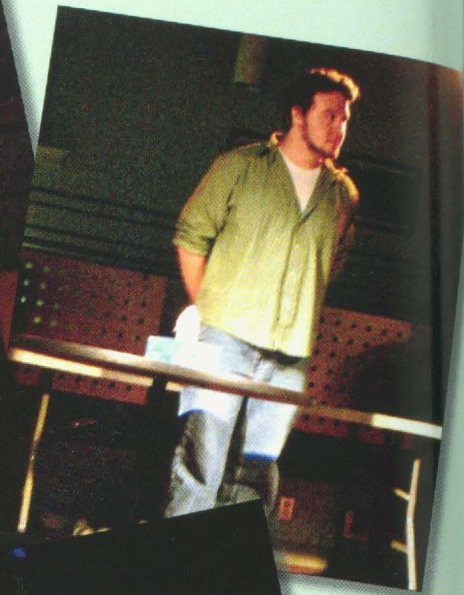

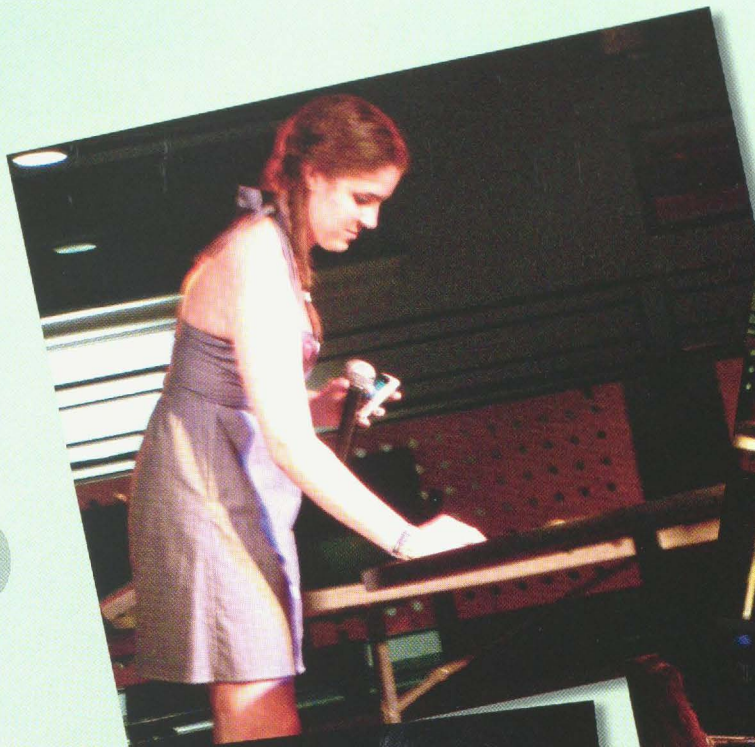

In addition to opening Eagle Village, UMW also completed a bridge over Route 1 to act as a stunning entrance to the university that doubles as a convenient way for pedestrians to cross from one side of the road to the other, making access between the complex and the university both simple and safe.

The opening of Eagle Village has been a proud one for the university, especially since it was able to open on budget and on time. The project also earned the UMW Foundation an Economic Impact Award!

Underground Nights

The Underground

Providing Campus Entertainment

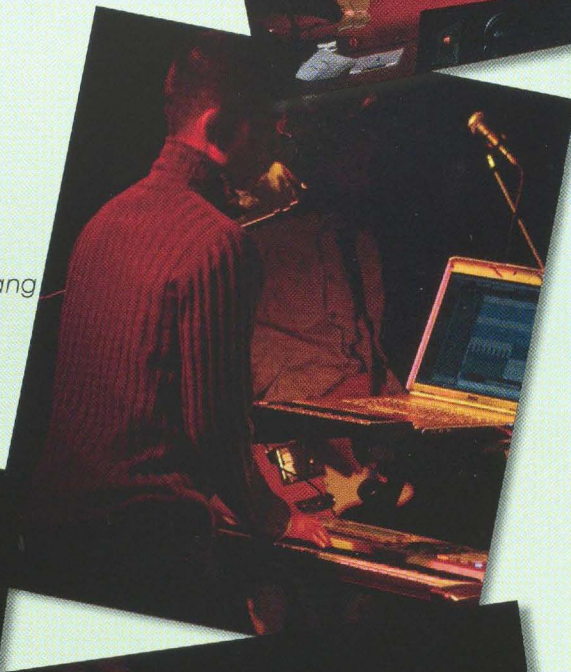

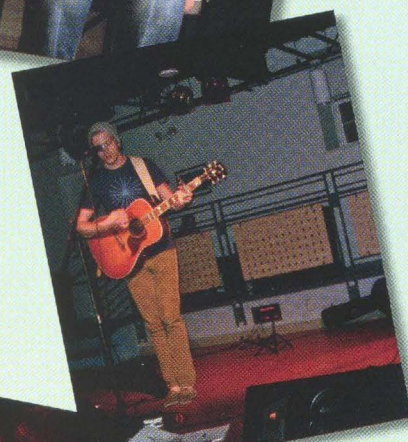

By Paulina Kosturos

This year the Underground served as a mecca for campus entertainment. The Underground Programming Council (UPC) worked hard to create the atmosphere for events such as Open Mic Night and Monday Night Football. Other Underground events included bingo on Wednesdays and karaoke on Saturdays.

UPC also sponsored special events throughout the year. Student favorite "Minute to Win It", a spin-off from the TV game show, forced students to put their skills to the test in competition for a grand prize. Another favorite, "Tin Chef", allowed students to show off their cooking skills in the hopes of winning Eagle One money. The Underground also served as the setting for larger events like Winter Carnival and Fall Fest, drawing students from all over campus.

Whatever the occasion, the Underground never failed to provide an exciting atmosphere for students outside the realm of everyday academics.

Wale, Jimmy Eat World, and Circa Survive

By Alesha James

Giant Productions brought a variety of talented performing artists to entertain UMW students throughout the year. The first was Washington, D.C. native Wale, who graced the Battlegrounds during Homecoming in October. Though profanity littered his performance and caused much controversy with the surrounding community, the majority of UMW students enjoyed the show and had many positive remarks.

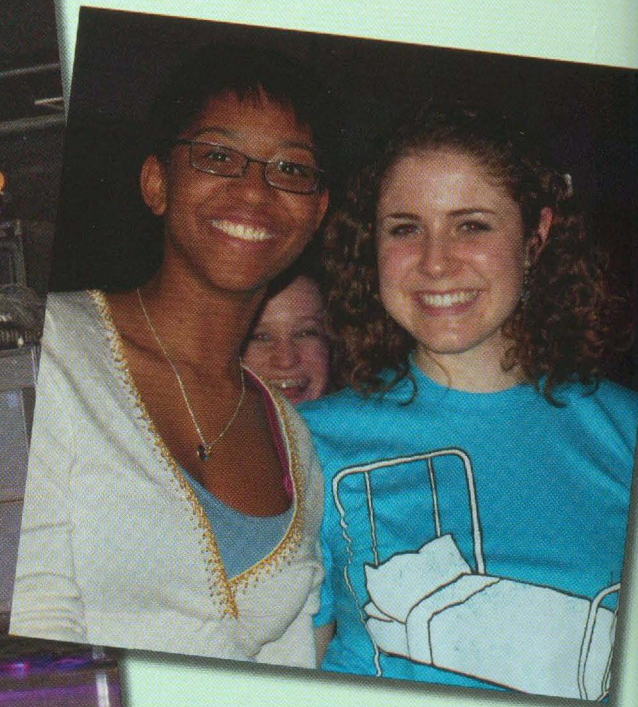

Giant's large spring show featured Jimmy Eat World, most popular for their chart-topping hit "The Middle". Students packed Dodd Auditorium to see the lively performance held in mid-February.

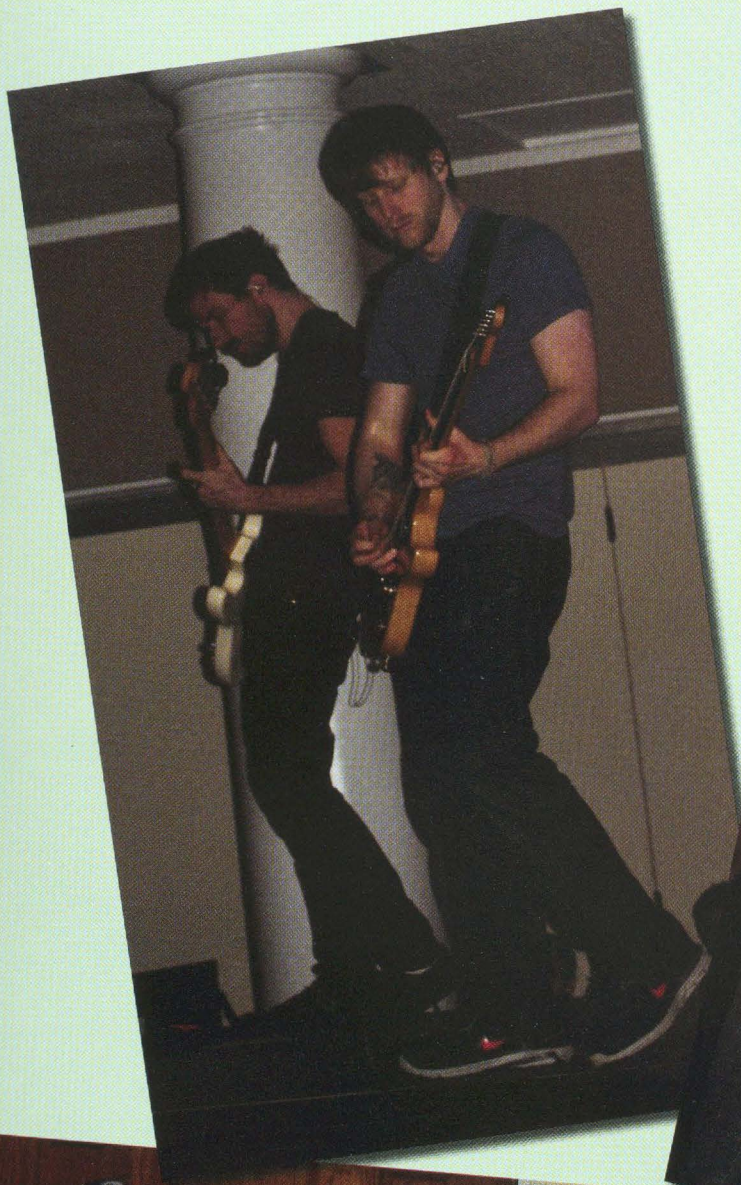

Finally, Giant chose the unique Circa Survive to fill the small show spot this spring. The band kept students dancing all night and was the center of many upbeat conversations in the final weeks of the year.

Would You? Could You? Will You?

By Whitney Hanlin

This year the UMW community was both excited and proud to celebrate Dr. James Farmer and his fellow Freedom Riders as 2011 marked the 50th anniversary of the Freedom Rides, a movement that challenged racial segregation in interstate transportation.

Throughout the spring semester, UMW did much to honor the anniversary of the Freedom Rides. Most visibly, 14 UMW students in the Historic Preservation department put together a display on Ball Circle featuring a 40-foot-long bus. The bus displayed images that conveyed the reality Freedom Riders lived during the summer of 1961. Several lectures featuring speakers like Eric Etheridge and Andy Lewis, to name a few, were held throughout the semester as well to bring the Freedom Rides to life for UMW students and the surrounding community.

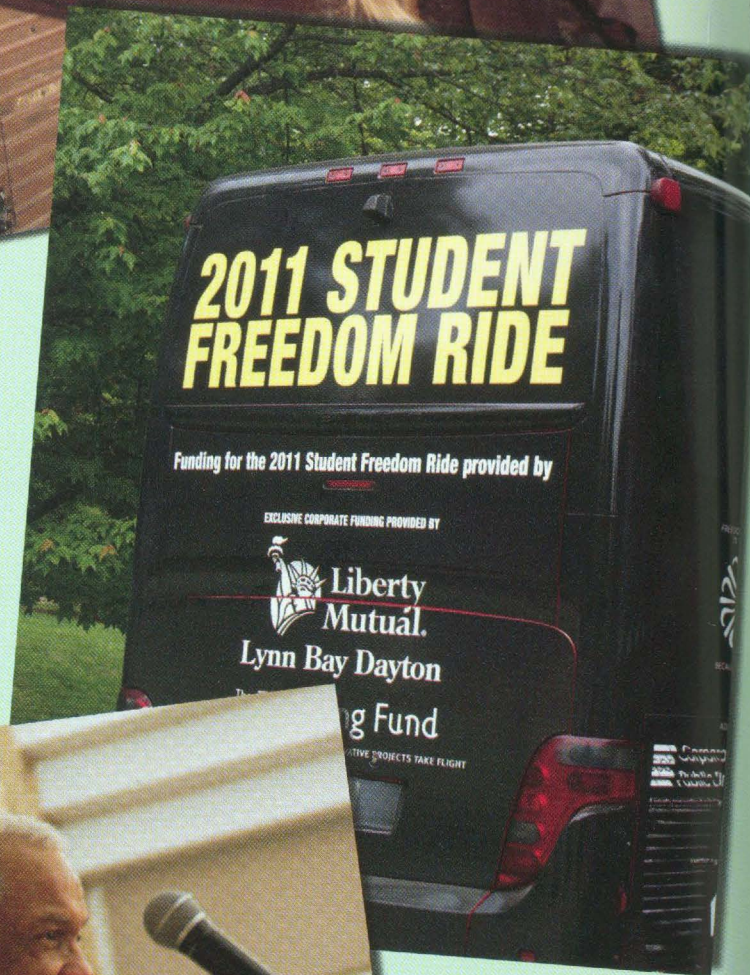

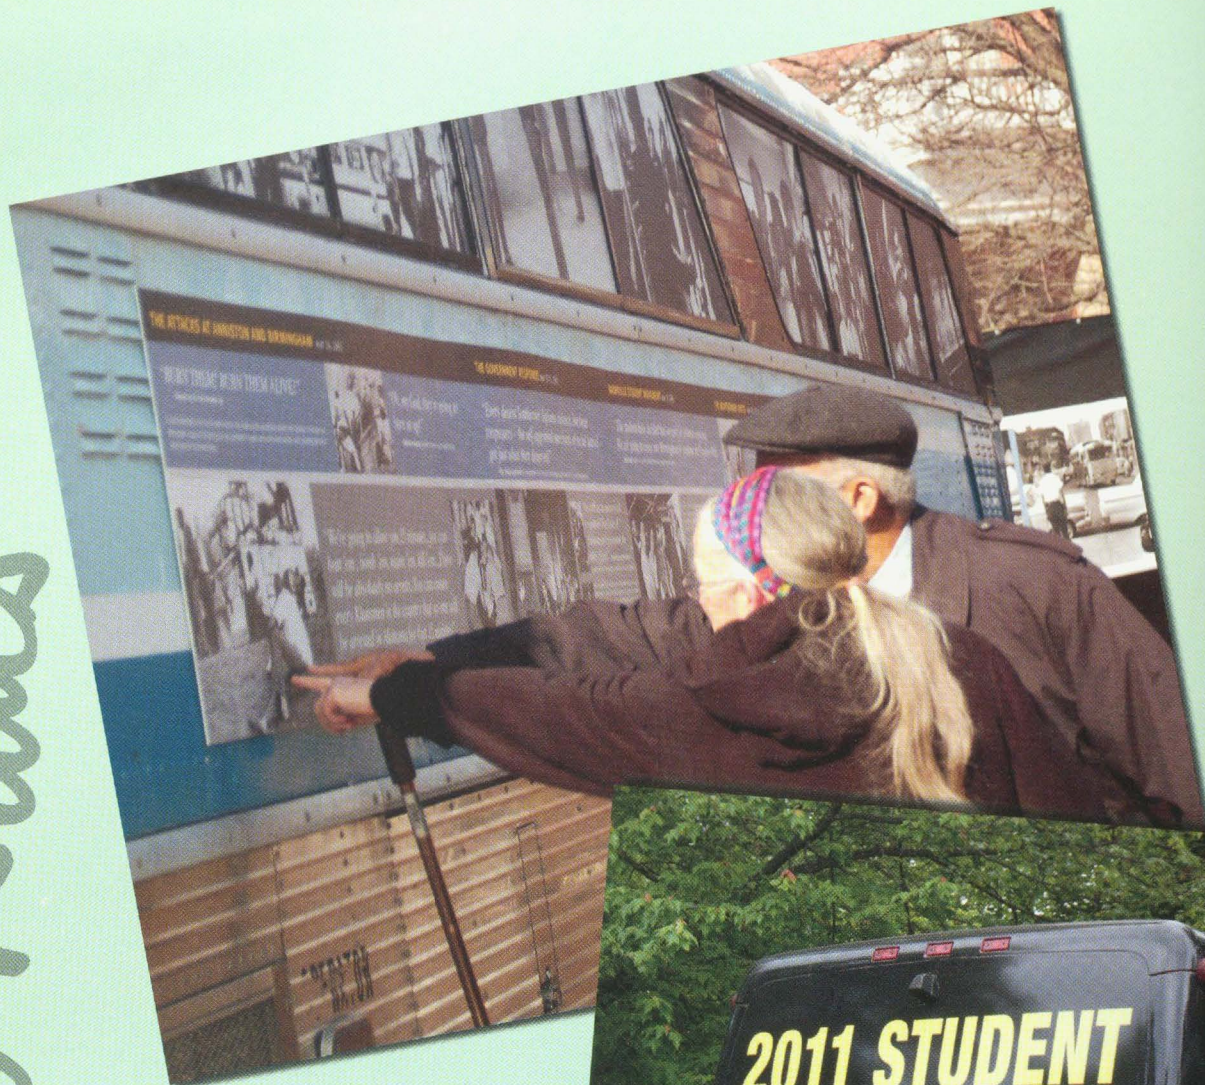

PBS also featured the university's efforts on their documentary about the Freedom Rides. The broadcasting company also documented the experience of 40 college students as they participated in the 2011 Freedom Ride Reenactment. UMW's own Charles Reed Jr. was chosen as the only student Freedom Rider from a Virginia university.

Where Campus Activities Come Alive!

By Jaclyn Petrow

The Office of Student Activities and Community Services (OSACS for short) is the center of campus life at UMW. Representing over 130 student clubs and organizations, the office constantly works to help students do nearly everything outside of academia, from planning events to organizing orientation to performing a seemingly unlimited amount of community service projects.

OSACS also strives to help develop a sense of community and purpose for UMW students. The many clubs and organizations provide niches within the student body and give everyone a place to belong. These clubs and organizations also put on events every week to keep campus vibrant and alive with activities.

Community Outreach and Resources

By Jaclyn Petrow

C.O.A.R. is a student-run organization dedicated to serving the Fredericksburg community. Whether they are building houses with Habitat for Humanity, helping the environment, donating blood or volunteering at Mary Washington, there is never a shortage of service.

This year, C.O.A.R. hosted an array of events that encouraged students to get involved. These events also invited students to find solutions to problems challenging the community. Events included Into the Streets, Pumpkin-Palooza, Gift Box Drive for Head Start, Charity Poker Tournament, and Act! Speak! Build! Week.

Administration

Administration

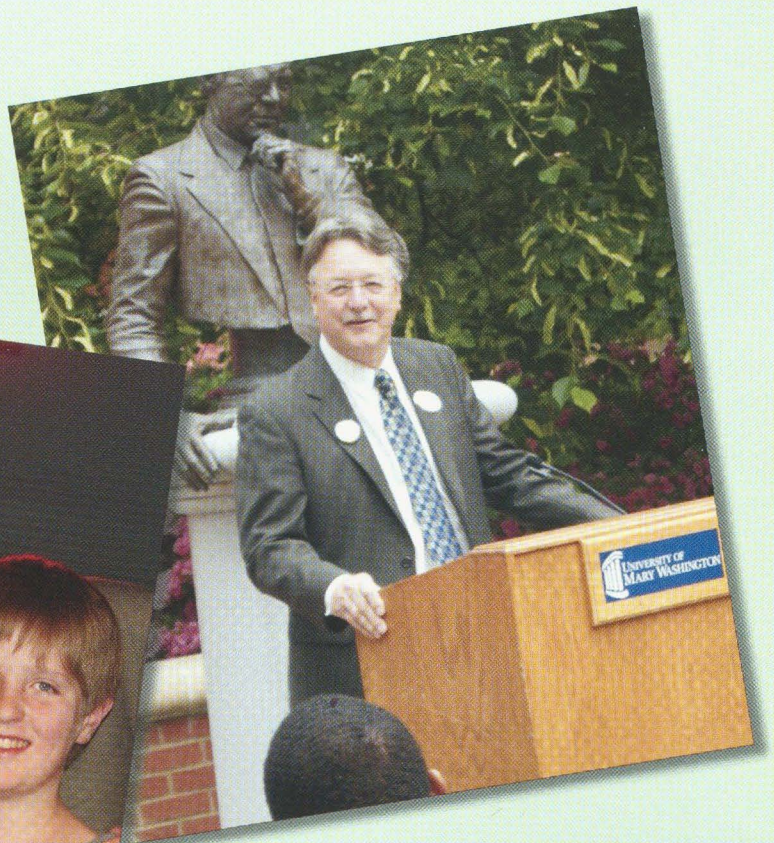

Guiding UMW Students on All Levels

By Karmel James

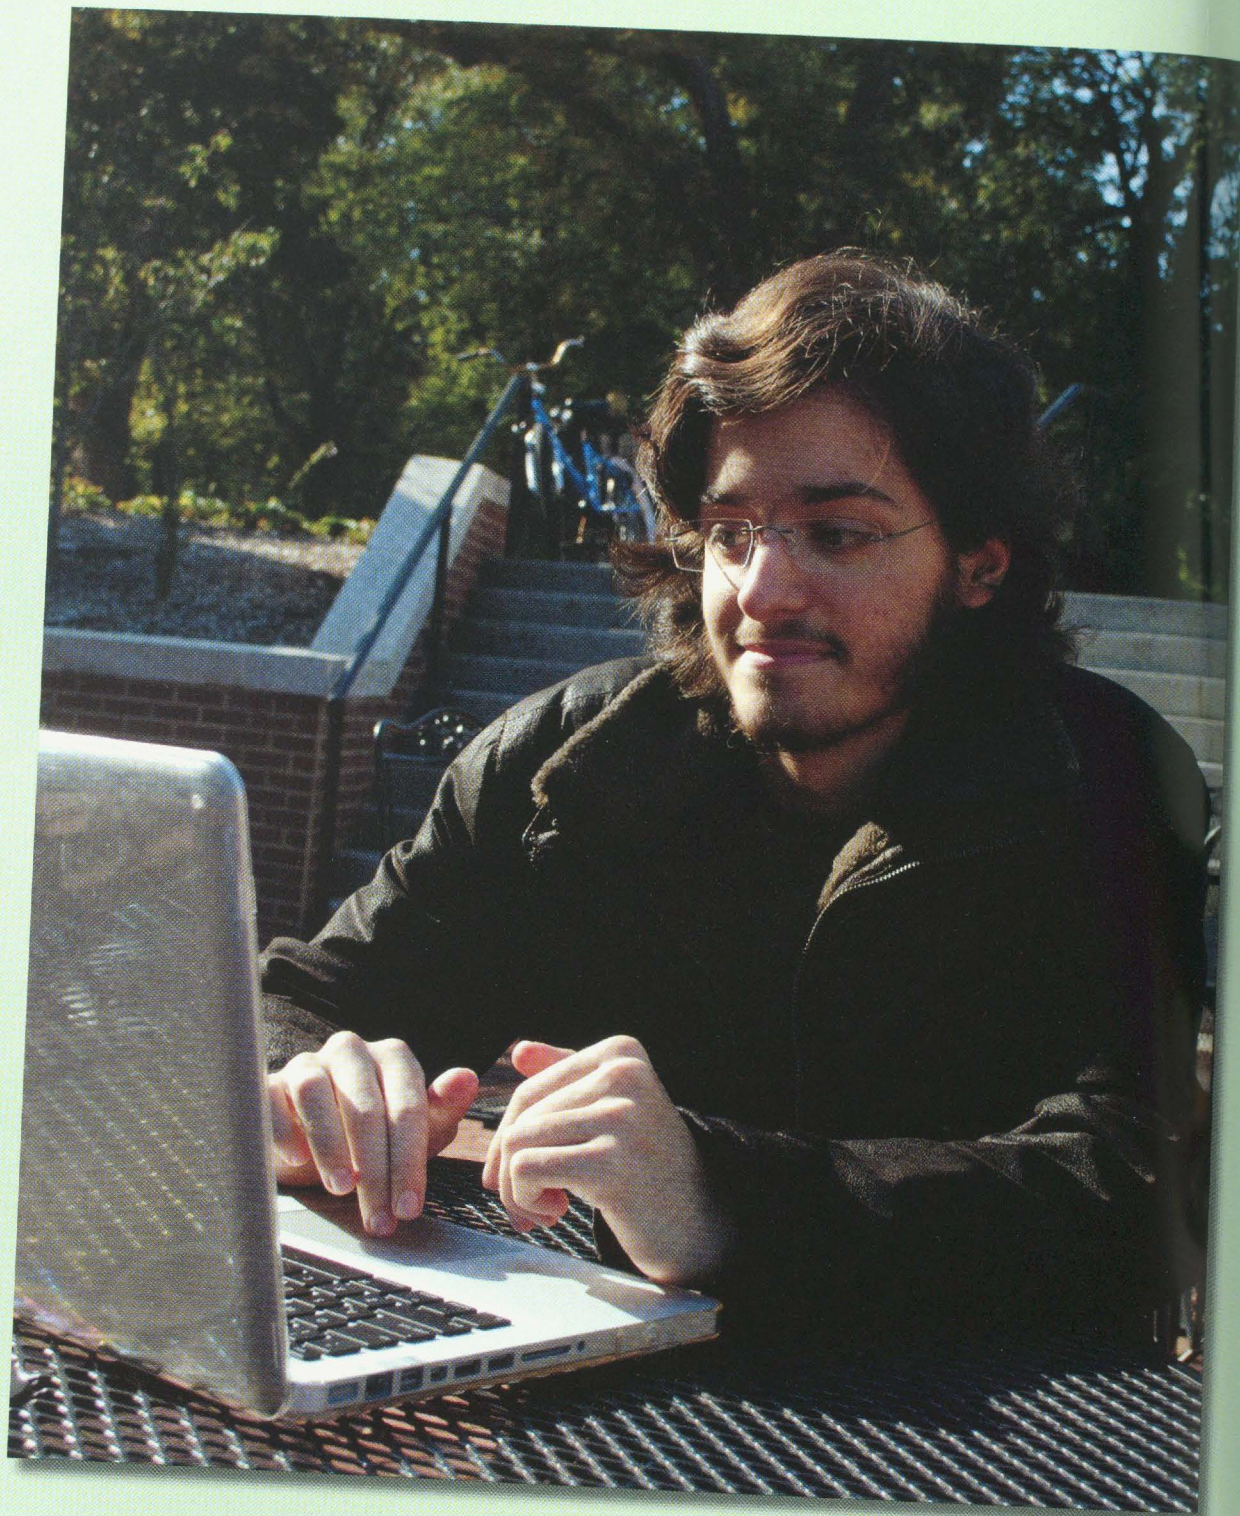

The 2010-2011 school year took a wild turn with a new president in our administration, but welcomed him with open arms. Starting his first year as president, Richard V. Hurley offered the stability the university needed in order to keep on track with helping Mary Washington earn the recognition it deserves on both a local and national level.

Also, with the addition of Martin Wilder as the first Chief of Staff on the President's cabinet, the campus looked to a brighter future knowing students, faculty, staff, and parents were updated on all the changes coming to the school. This year's administration has changed the way the university operates for the better.

Academics

All This Hassle for a Tassel

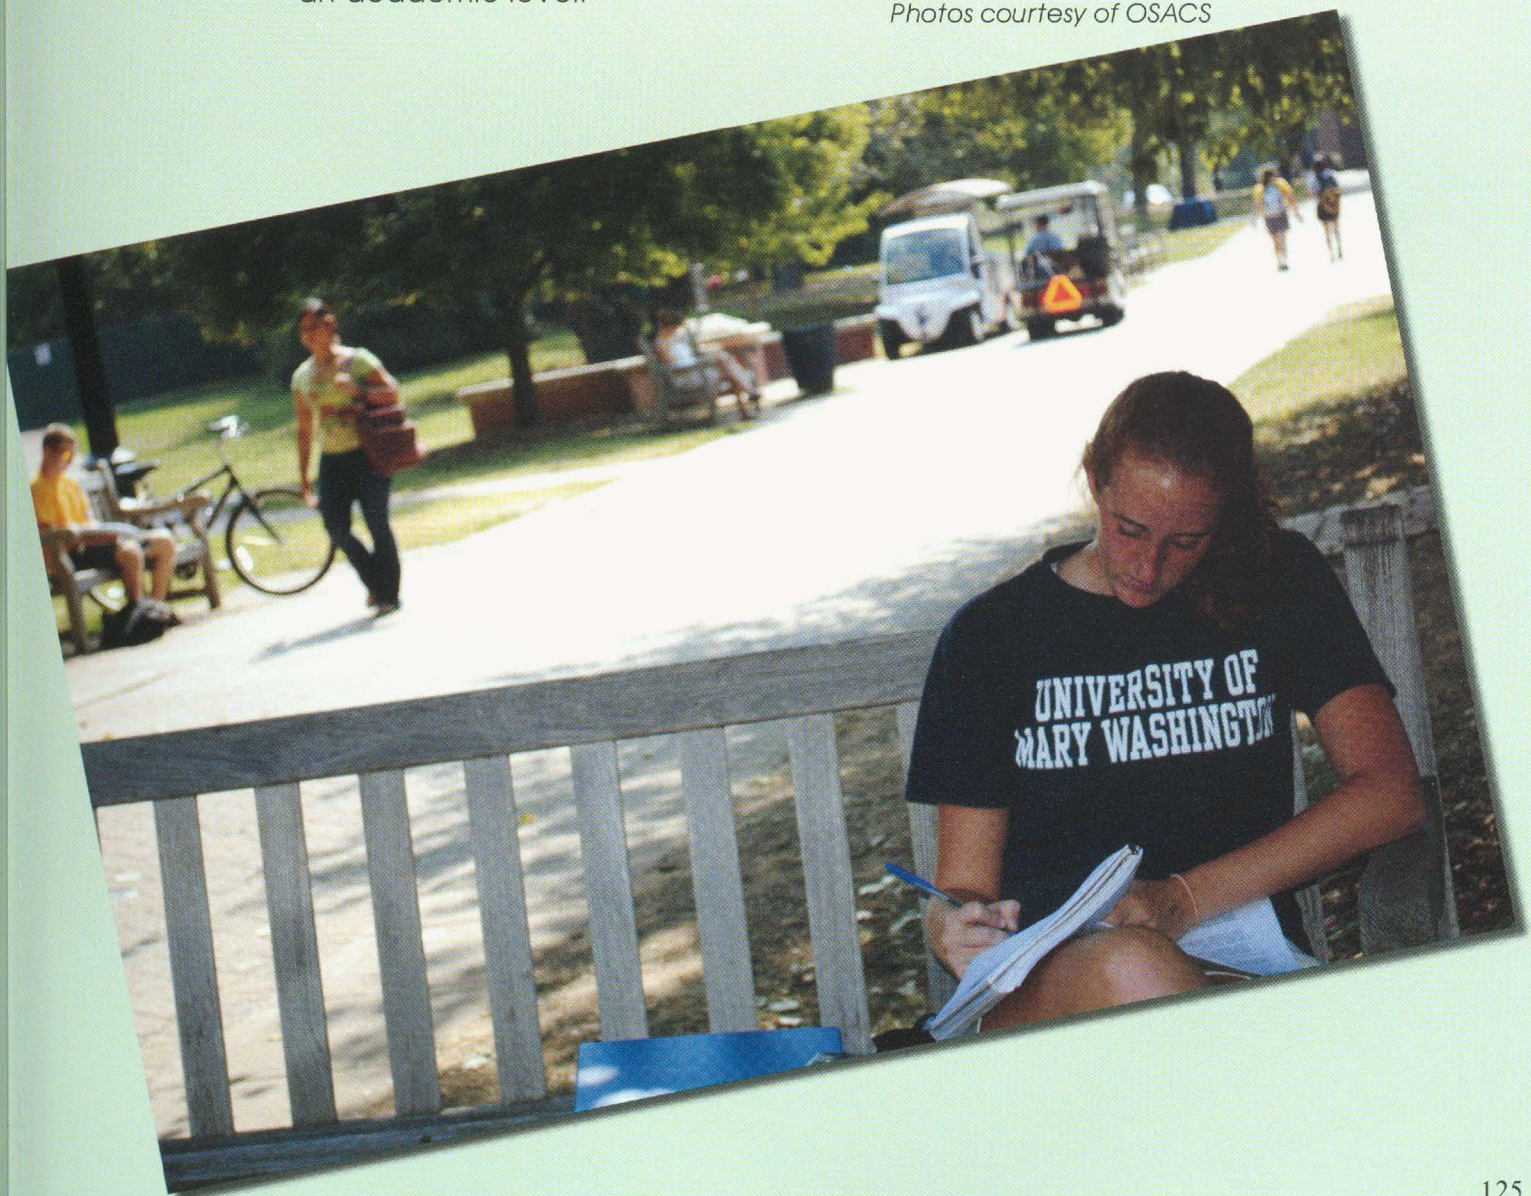

By Karmel James

This year UMW introduced two new colleges to join the traditional College of Arts and Sciences. The College of Business and College of Education has made for a stronger link within corresponding majors and with the graduate programs offered at the university's Stafford campus.

With over 30 majors and 3 colleges, students at Mary Washington get a well-rounded experience that prepares them for the "real world" year after year.

These challenging and rigorous academics provide students with something more than just a diploma. UMW students receive the tools to go out into the world and connect with people on a professional level in addition to an academic level.

Multicultural Center

Honoring James Farmer's Legacy

By Whitney Hanlin

The James Farmer Multicultural Center (JFMC) certainly had a big year with its central focus surrounding the 50th anniversary celebration of the Freedom Rides. However, the JFMC accomplished much more beyond the well publicized Freedom Rides events.

This year students representing a vast amount of cultural backgrounds, ethnicities, sexual identities, and religious beliefs sponsored events with the goal of bringing diversity to the campus of Mary Washington. The year opened with Latinos Identities Month, which ran from mid-September to mid-October. Shortly thereafter, the GLBTTQQAAP celebration took place as a way to bring awareness and acceptance to people of all sexual orientations and identities. Bhangra Beat, Asian and Jewish cultural celebrations followed. The JFMC also celebrated Islamic Cultural Week, Black History Month, and Women's History Month.

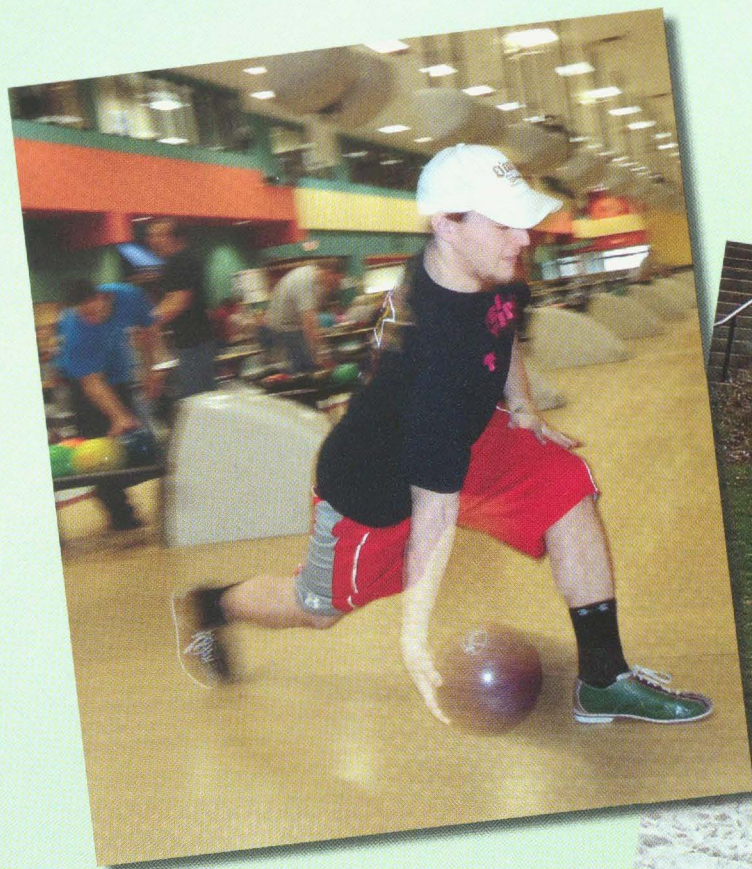

On April 9th the James Farmer Multicultural Center concluded the year on a high note as the 21st Annual Multicultural Fair took over campus. The fair allowed attendees to sample foods from many different cultures. In addition, vendors offered a wide variety of crafts for sale. Even crafts and games were offered to get young children involved in the fun.

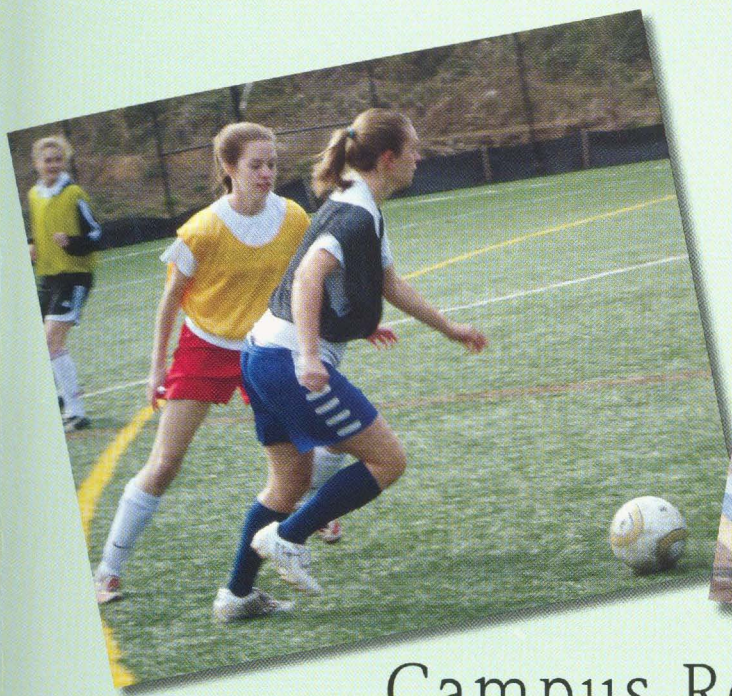

Overall, the James Farmer Multicultural Center had nothing short of a successful year. Staff and students alike worked together to bring positive recognition to the university. The efforts of the JFMC showed the rest of the country what it means to be an Eagle with pride and poise.

Campus Recreation

Campus Recreation

Keeping UMW Active

By Whitney Hanlin

Sponsoring 20 different club sports teams, running the Fitness Center, and offering many fitness classes certainly keeps the Campus Recreation staff on their toes. However, both the professional and student staff members somehow find the time to go the extra mile in providing fun and athletic activities for all UMW students.

This year Campus Recreation held a wide variety of intramural leagues and tournaments. From volleyball to badminton to softball, to name very few, there is something for everyone. This year, students even saw the addition of Wii Bowling as an intramural league.

In addition to organizing and facilitating intramural competitions, Campus Rec also strives to keep students involved by awarding SOAR points to teams that both succeed in competition and display healthy sportsmanship. This year the SOAR Challenge Cup went to Westmoreland in the Residence Hall category and the "Rippertons" in the independent standings.

Campus Rec also saw the execution of a weekly wellness-centered talk show, "Healthy Steps", on the campus radio station, WMWC. Shows featured topics like roommate conflict, relaxation and meditation, sleep hygiene, and depression, among others.

Obviously, Campus Recreation saw a busy and exciting year. It is the hopes of the staff to continue to grow the club sports and intramural programs to provide even more opportunities for fitness and health to UMW students.

Residence Life

Living the Life

By Karmel James

This year Residence Life staff saw both a hectic and exciting time as the year kicked off with the opening of Eagle Landing for upperclassmen students. In August 2010, over 600 students were able to move into the new apartment building to stainless steel refrigerators, stove tops, granite counter tops and other brand-new furnishings. In order to build a strong sense of community in this new building, the Residence Life staff employed excellent Resident Assistants to guide upperclassmen in creating a one-of-a-kind residence hall.

In addition to the opening of Eagle Landing, Residence Life continued to build its CONCEPTual Living Program. Programs included the International Living Center (ILC), the Modern Foreign Language (MFL) community, Physically Active Fitness Friends (PAFF), Korean-Afghan Roommate Community (KARC), and the Gender Neutral Housing Community (GNHC). The program's goal is to build smaller, more concentrated communities within the residence halls themselves. Students engaged in any one of those communities often boast about the strong sense of friendship and family built within their particular group.

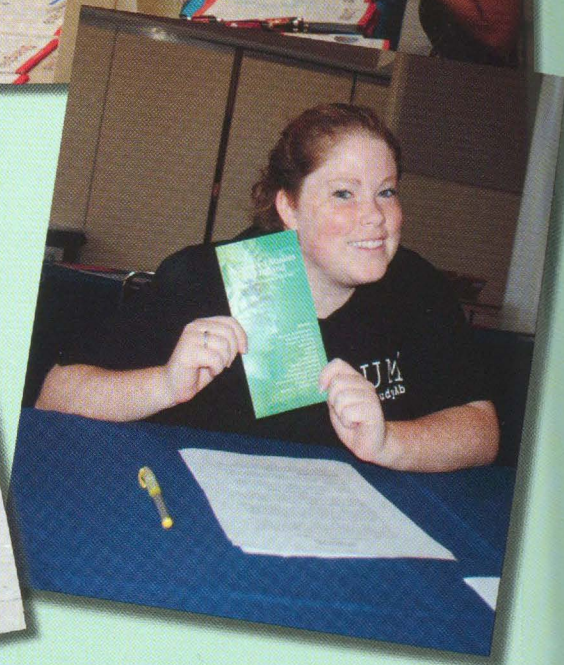

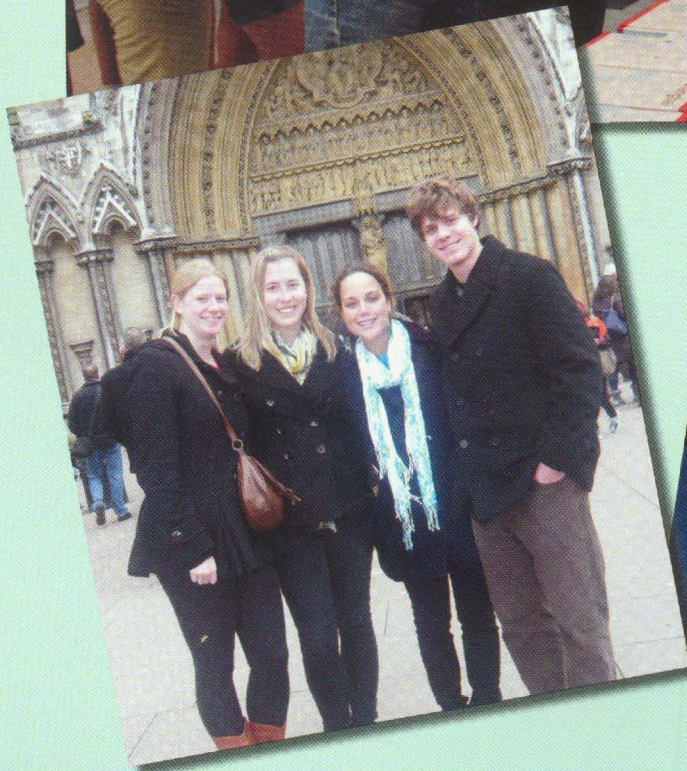

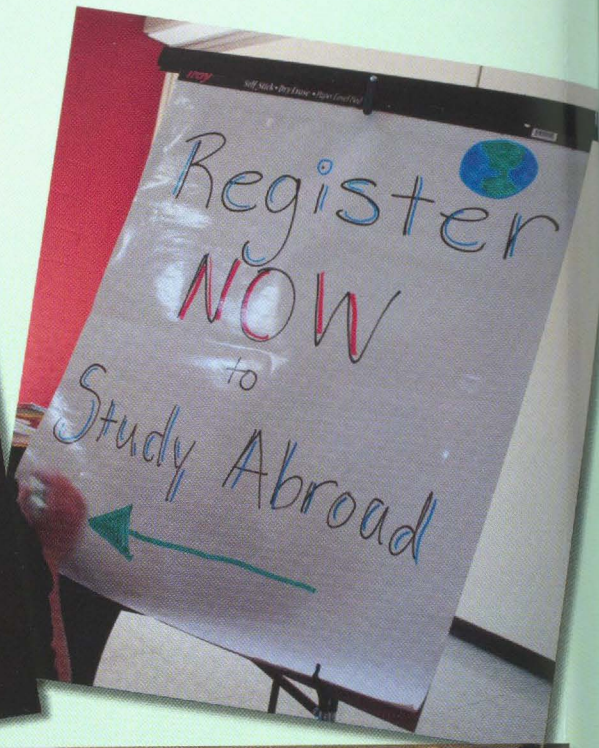

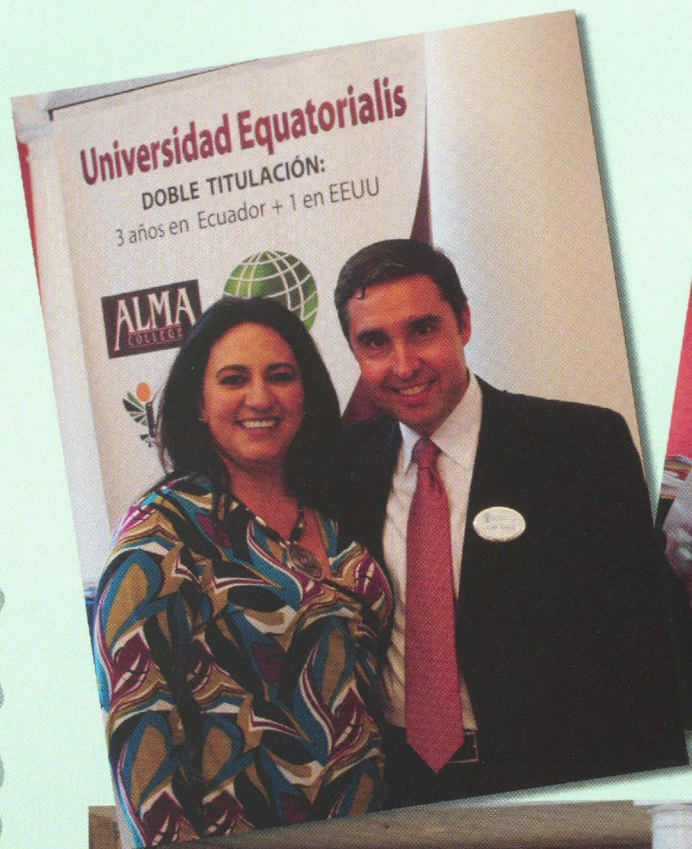

Residence Life also saw the addition of the Ms. UMW pageant to coincide with Women's History Month. The program gained a lot of support all across campus with marketing centered around the word "fierce", a term often used on the popular TV show America's Next Top Model. Along with Ms. UMW, the Association of Residence Halls also sponsored Mr. UMW and two Friday Night Dry events.

Overall, Residence Life continues to grow in both physical and intangible ways. Resident Assistants are becoming more involved in campus life by coordinating hall-sponsored programs with programs held by other student groups, therefore building a sense of community beyond those in the residence halls across campus.

Study Abroad

Study Abroad

From Australia to South Africa

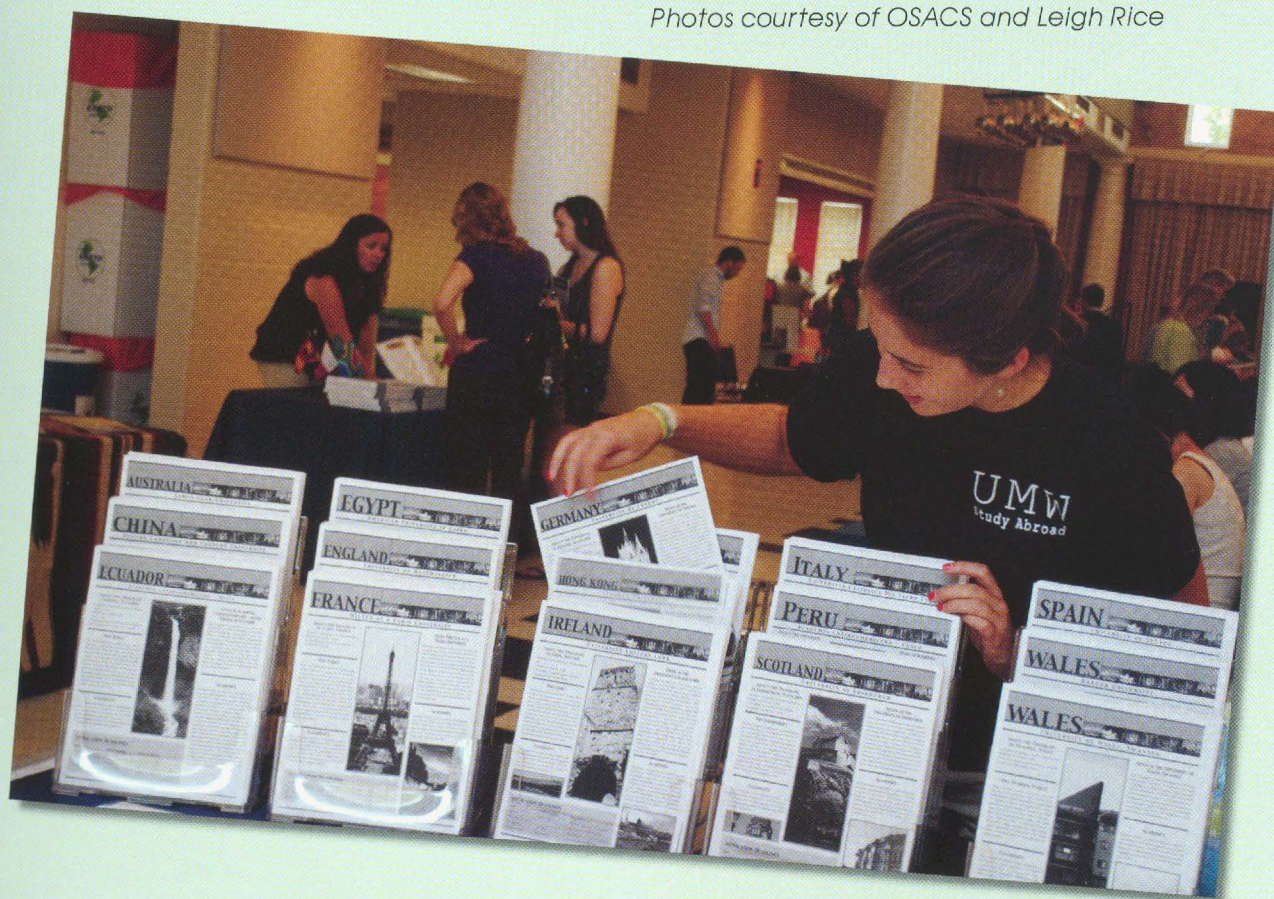

By Whitney Hanlin

UMW's Center for International Education, along with individual academic departments, works each year to provide a wide variety of opportunities for UMW students to explore new cultures while studying abroad. UMW accomplishes its variety of offerings through many partner programs with universities across the globe. To name a few, UMW partners with the University of Westminster in the United Kingdom, the University of College Cork in Ireland, James Cook University in Australia, and Lignan University in China.

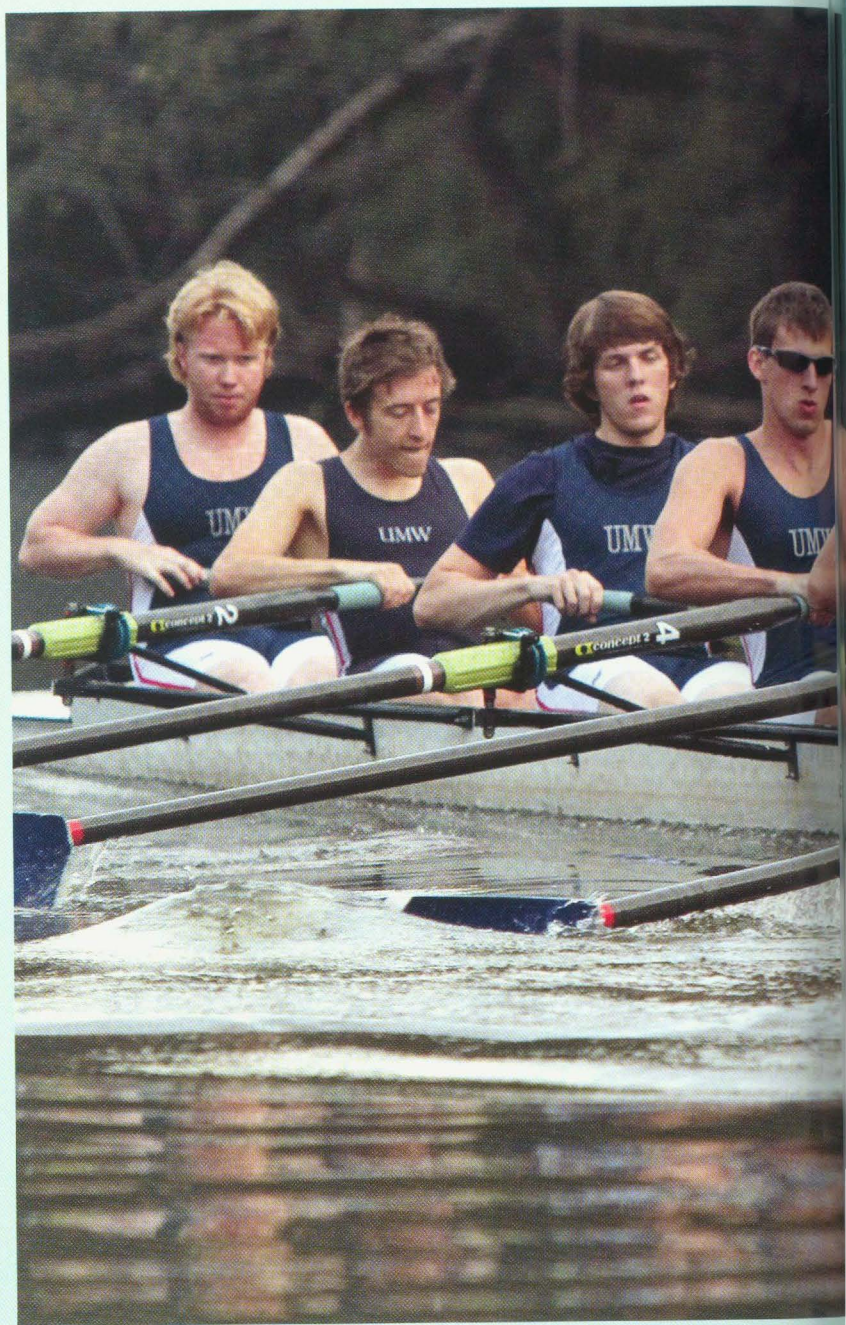

In addition to its partnerships with international universities, UMW also provides students with the opportunity to participate in UMW faculty-led programs in Ghana, France, Germany, Italy, South Africa, Spain, and Honduras.

This year UMW's study abroad program proved successful by continuing to send students around the world all year long. By providing such opportunities, UMW students are challenged to become more globally aware and therefore tend to be better prepared for the so-called "real world" upon graduation.

A Word from Co-Editor Anne Elder

Things around Mary Washington have been changing at every corner over the past few years, with this year adding some of the biggest changes to campus I have seen during my time here. We got a new president, a new apartment complex, and took over the glory formerly known as Roses to create a state-of-the-art community for not only students, but faculty and community members as well. The Anderson Center is close to completion and Monroe Hall is ready to be reopened in the fall. So, while all these things were changing around us, the yearbook helps me remember that one very important thing about UMW hasn't changed—the students.

Yes, our style gets crazier and we find new things to hold forums about, but, at the foundation, the heart of UMW stays the same. Class Council still sponsors the event students wait for noted with free food and t-shirts, COAR still strives to help people in our community and outside Fredericksburg, and the sports teams are still honored with CAC Players of the Week. Even though everything around us is rapidly changing, we are the real face of UMW.

This book really would not have been possible without the help of Joe Mollo, Whitney Hanlin, and Ashby Smith. The three of them have been astronomically helpful in completing spreads, helping us figure out the software, or just to go talk to when we needed advice. For as long as I have been on staff, Joe has been our advisor and we will miss him greatly and wish him the best of luck (that is, until he realizes he misses us too much to leave)! I know Whitney will do an amazing job next year as our advisor and I look forward to seeing what she is able to help create. Words cannot even begin to express the gratitude I have for you all.

Carry forth, UMW, and shine on.

Anne Elder

A Word from Co-Editor Paulina Kosturos

What makes a year memorable? Is it the moments spent laughing with friends? Is it the warm spring days spent lounging on Ball Circle? Or is it the sleepless nights spent trying to finish essays? What defines a year? All of these images contribute to our memories and the unforgettable time spent in college. More importantly, our cherished memories arise from our individual and collective experiences as students, faculty, and friends.

As we create memories, often times we venture through the year with our own worries, goals, and achievements. However, somewhere along the line, through campus social events, classes, forums, or history-making events, our experiences are shared. Our experiences signify our history as young adults and friends. More than that, they signify the communal bond and intellectual thought of the UMW community.

As yearbook staffers, we sought to capture the images that make a year unforgettable, whether they involve anticipating the first flake of winter, cheering on the Mother's Rugby team, or chilling in front of Lee Hall, each experience is a celebration of life.

This year's book involved an enormous amount of time and dedication from our staff members. Our campus underwent many changes and hosted an array of historical events. From the Freedom Riders exhibition to the forums against the campus demolitions, our staff attempted to capture the individual and collective experiences of the UMW community.

As a community, our experiences define our year. Together we laugh, we cry, we sing, we play.

And together we soar as Eagles.

Theme: The theme "What defines an eagle?" was chosen for the nintety-eigth volume of the Battlefield by co-Editors-in-Chief Anne Elder and Paulina Kosturos with help from advisor Joe Mollo. The book follows what it really means to be an Eagle in a time where campus is changing not only with construction, but also administration. Publishing: The Battlefield was published by Taylor Yearbooks, 1550 W Mockingbird Lane, Dallas TX 75235. Ashby Smith served as our sales representative. The press run was 2,000 copies, each with 320 full-color pages printed with CMYK process. Cover: The cover was designed by co-Editor-in-Chiefs Anne Elder and Paulina Kosturos with the help of Ashby Smith and Taylor designer Stephen Williams. The cover is 9 x 12, process four color on lithocote material with gloss lamination. Hardware and Software: The book was produced using the Taylor Yearbooks online design program StudioWorks by staff members using their personal computers. Co-Editors-in Chief Anne Elder and Paulina Kosturos used an Acer desktop and an HP laptop, provided to the editors by Taylor Yearbooks. Adobe Photoshop Elements was used to crop, edit, and resize photos. Advertisements: Senior Ads were sold for $200 for a full page, $150 for a half page, $115 for a quarter of a page and $75 for an eigth of a page. Typography: Vanguard (italicized, photo captions; copy font), Genesis (copy titles, subtitles and bylines), Jeffy (side page titles). Photography: Underclassmen photos were provided by the University ID Center and were placed and cropped by Ashby Smith and Paulina Kosturos. Faculty photos were provided by the Office of News and Public Information and were placed and cropped by Madison Marchbank. Senior portraits were taken by appointment with Candid Color Photography, 11010 Bacon Race Road, Woodbridge, VA 22192. Seniors were notified of available dates through email and mail announcements. The photos were then cropped and placed by XXXXX. Sports photographs were taken by Clint Often. Writing and Design: All body copy and headlines were written by staff members. Dividers and section layouts were designed by layout editor Kelsy Trumble. Distribution: The 2011 Battlefield was distributed in fall 2011.
